How much longer until can hear your voice. miss hearing from you so much. We love you. It haqj name on it with a request supposedly from me, be offmy visiting list. I'm like no didn't write that besides he had been removed like 2 years ago. So I have no idea who wrote this mystery letter but it wasn't me. OK, sol tell about it he assumes maybe its another inmate messing with me and writing shit in my name, I'm like yeah maybe you're right. Well today received a notice visiting form has been approved. I'm like WTF!!!! and never planned to have a visit again. So this was so out of the blue. Tonight, Plot twist. What happened filled out a visiting form and then changed his mind, and wrote the prison to have himselfremoved AGAIN. Last texted him to ask lied and said nah man haven't wrote the prison in a long time, why would I? didn't continue the conversation. texted him tonight and said hey man that is MY wife and she doesn't wanna see texted back saying well wrote the prison because wanted to be off all her contact lists. To replied, You already were dumbass MFer. Like he went from spending most days in his cell to now being out ALL the time. And it's a huge change you know being use to being locked up almost 20 hours a day to now only be locked up at night time. He started school in sept and just told me a few days ago he got a job from 11pm-6am. was worried because you know he went from doing nothing all day to having school 20 hours a week and now this. He's going to be doing work plus school 50 hours a week almost and that's a lot for someone who isn't use to it. But spoke to him today and he told me he doesn't really start working til 4am so he can do his homework the first few hours of his shift which brings relief to me knowing he won't be straining himself even told him over the phone care about you a lot and just was concerned with this adjustment but this dude is so ready to get out it's not even funny. hope it works out for him and hd can get out and be happy. But my insecurities are starting to settle in me a bit but I think I'll be okay! Our first in person is this weekend! Thank you for the advice appreciate it. That's good thought that you are staying secure wit and you know he's your forever :) And feels the way I'm feeling at times. Like when the person we are with gets out what if they into us anymore or it doesn't work out? It can really be scary at times. miss the first month talked t the most. We texted all the time. He would call me nonstop. It was just so nice maybe that was our "honey moon" phase. try not to think on it too much and be secure within myself! hope your week is going good!	page 630

10/27/2022 16:34:21	Inbound	Oh-scratch the last email! I just heard fromy that she may be going with another ghostwriter on your project. So hold off on calling me... She and have yet to talk... and realize that it could be better for timing for her to use someone who can devote full-time on the project. Since it wasn't a paid gig for me, had to also do my various other writing assignments/editing stints at e/a USA Today true crime "bookazine"... and so on. But I just want to let you know that whatever happens, have really enjoyed "meeting" you and talking to you and wish you OH SO well for the future. really hope this book is all that you want it to be, even if I'm no longer involved in it. You have been so brave and honest and open in talking with me and I really respect you for that. will let you know what transpires... but am sending best wishes and hope all is well with you...	page 1006
10/27/2022 15:22:08	Inbound	Updating you! Hi Gypsy! Sorry it has been such a long haul, but was working on a project for USA Today that consumed the past month. And, ldk told you, but we spoke too soon about the book proposal being ready. Of course it wasn't! She and I hired this editor know (she's also a writer and has done a lot of book proposals) to take a look at our proposal and she suggested we go back to the idea of this being IN YOUR WORDS, so in first-person, which agree will just be much more interesting to the reader. YOU'RE the one they want to hear from! So I'm using your past interviews with MM and me, but would love to get back on a schedule where we talk regularly. Let me know what you think would work for you. For example, for a PROLOGUE, we are going to go in-depth into the day leading up to your mom's death. have some specific Qs about how you were feeling at this or that moment... Then for the first chapter, we are going to talk about your early childhood. I mostly have Qs now about the "day of" as I'm still fleshing out the childhood chapter... Hope to talk to you soon! Happy fall!	page 1006
10/28/2022 19:22:15	Inbound	book haven't heard back fro about what she wants as part of the dissolution. She hasn't responded to me to tell me she wants to be apart of research or anything. The issue is this, the agent said her pacing is not fast enough for a publisher contract. Plus, when she summited we a new sample chapter it wasn't what the writing coach asked of her. The writing coach gave her instructions and she was off the plan. I'll send you screen shots of the feedback so you can see. So I think at this point, she's completely off the project however there might be a way to work her in but at a reduced placement. definitely respect her but need to ponder this and see if there is a way she can be helpful as the new writer charges 125k book and Proposal. aa	page 091

10/28/2022 11:39:42	Outbound	Again Happy birthday, So thought I'd write again. You asked what is going on currently. Well, I am almost a year out from being released. I'm nervous and excited. My stepmom and dad want to rent an AirBandB for us to stay at the day get out. Its called Circle Lodge its around this area not sure how far from Chillicothe. Its a log cabin in a wooded area though. Since get on on December 28th of next year its after Christmas so my stepmom wants to put on a small Christmas for me at the cabin complete with a Christmas tree and matching PJs I'm not thrilled about the PJs but its fine. lol I am going home to my home state of Louisiana. All my family lives there so I'll have a lot of family support. I'm not sure what wanna do for work just yet, got my HSE "GED" here in prison and would love to work maybe at a salons doing hair, or retail. I'm currently writing my own book, plus filming for a new documentary and recording my own podcast partnered with Lifetime network. So I've got lots going on in that area lol	page 1061
10/28/2022 23:44:05	Inbound	Letter 1 Hi Gypsy! This is a long letter and due to character limitations I'll have to split this into two separate letters. This is the first one. Yes, today (Friday, October 28) is my birthday! I'm actually a Scorpio - but don't hold that against me haha. As far as signs go we get kind of a bad rep, but like to think don't fall into that stereotype lol. I think it's so cool how you read old English poetry and try to make out the meaning. When you say old English do you mean old Anglo-Saxon English or like Shakespearean era English? love the history of linguistics. never thought to read old English poetry (outside of Beowulf or The Wanderer) but there is a really cool YouTuber who follow religiously who does fascinating videos on Old English from it's earliest roots to now. The guy can actually speak these different dialects and it's so fun listening to him talk and trying to make out what exactly he's saying. It's interesting how similar yet different Old English is to the dialects we speak today. Sometimes you can just make out what they're saying - other times it almost sounds German. like fantasy too! haven't read any of the novels but do like the Star Wars universe. I like how Disney is building on the franchise and keeping it alive. really like the Song of Ice and Fire books that Game of Thrones is based on. HBO just premiered a new spin off show based off the series called "House of the Dragon" but I seen it yet. love stories with their own worlds and lore, something you can really get lost in. Random fact books are always great too! had tons of those growing up lol. As sorry as am to hear that you get weirdos writing you on occasion, can't say it surprises me too much. There's a lot of creeps out there and unfortunately you can't always tell their intentions right off the bat. It doesn't help that you're in the public eye which would draw those personality types to you. It has to be such a strange feeling having someone obsess over you like that, or expecting romance when you never remotely intended that. Hopefully you've been able to meet some cool people and the majority haven't been that way. know words can be cheap sometimes and prefer to let my actions speak for themselves, but I'll just say now will never post anything we talk about online, nor will turn into an obsessed stalker looking for romance. I'm too boring to do something crazy like that lol. And hope that those types of people destroyed your faith or trust in others. I'd love to see some of your pieces of artwork one day. Drawing is such a wonderful way to express oneself loved drawing when was younger but quit doing it as much as got older and now I've pretty much lost the ability. Knitting sounds fun! I've never done it myself but have a grandma who knits and crochets and she's made me all sorts of cool creations over the years. It's gotta be so satisfying working on something and seeing it come to form before your very eyes. That's sweet of you to make a blanket for your friend. I'm sure she'll cherish that forever!	page 1063
10/28/2022 23:45:29	Inbound	Letter 2 (continued from Letter 1) My number one passion though is history, and I've started building up a collection of ancient coins and historical relics. Some of my pieces include: authentic deck wood and coal from the Titanic, a Woodstock ticket, pieces of fabric once worn by Kurt Cobain and Mary Todd Lincoln respectively, a campaign sticker that was hanging in the hall where RFK was assassinated, an unpublished family photo of JFK, Jackie, and the kids, a ticket to the 1893 World Exposition, a 1,300 year old English archer's ring, and so much more. One of my other dreams is to one day open an antiques store where I can both exhibit and sell pieces. I am so pleased to hear within reach of your release date. It will be here before you know it! I love the idea of your family getting a cabin for you for when you get out. That would be an ideal place to decompress and just relax and adjust. Fresh air can do the mind and body wonders! It sounds like you have many opportunities awaiting you and a great support system with your Dad and Stepmom. think a podcast would be a lot of fun! I've played around with the idea of doing one myself one day about history stuff. That's really cool you're doing that with the Lifetime network! Whatever you decide to do I'm confident you'll do great. have a tendency to write a lot so hope didn't overwhelm you lol. appreciate you taking the time to correspond with me, and your birthday greeting meant a lot - thanks again for that! look forward to hearing back from you. Please understand that though settled for a life with my best friend versus a passionate romance that exceeds my expectations, Does not mean that we can't have a good life together. enjoy your company. love you, and made my choices for myself. No one told me what to do, married you of my own choice. If lay awake at night struggling to find my thoughts rest on my happiness.. that is on me. It has NOTHING to do with you personally. My happiness is NOT your responsibility. often find myself struggling with going back and forth between overwhelming possessiveness to a total lack of care on the success of our relationship. I can't seem to let you go, but to lose you entirely would break my heart. YOU need to find it in you to decide is this the kind of marriage you want and is it worth staying for someone who can pick you up and put you down at a whim. not walking away but rather giving you the choice. If you stay it will be more of the same, every month will slowly break your heart dragging you down until you are numb and expect it so you never allow yourself to be happy because	page 949

10/31/2022 11:41:54	Inbound	Hello! Happy Monday and happy Halloween! Everything is going really well on this end. The episodes are coming together so nicely - looking good and sounding good. think it's really going to be such a great series. How are you? How are things with going? has kept me kind of updated, but I'm curious to find out from you how you're feeling about the whole thing, especially with the phone restriction. Sometimes those kinds of breaks can be really good for reflecting, especially when the only way to communicate is through writing. Writing allows us to think more about what we want to say and how we want it to come across. think when we speak we can sometimes say things in a tone we don't intend or we speak too hastily because we're reacting to something the other person said or did, so I'm really interested to see how you've both handled the break from talking. Has he visited you since the phone restriction Hi I'm actually doing just fine not talking during this 30 day phone restriction. emailed him and his mom yesterday and both seem to not be understanding to my feelings nor receptive to my explanations. Its I'm in the wrong and there is quite a bit of tension. In a nutshell they perceive my actions and reasons as selfish and don't understand how if he,...they both love me, then my mental and emotional state and happiness should be a priority to them, But a 7 and his mother see is is unhappy...and am to blame. has emailed my friends telling them how his wife is leaving him to go live with her parents and pine away for her ex, have kept my composer emailing his mother and told him do not come to visit me tomorrow as just need space. am listening to over 700 episodes of a podcast dedicated to marriage therapy. More and more I'm not sure if the last episode is going show us as this happy couple and this storyline of me finding love ready to start our lives together.. now has turned into regret my decision like everyone said would because am getting closer and closer to freedom and instead of wishing to be with my husband I'm craving the single life.	page 513

11/03/2022 01:44:47	Inbound	An eloquent letter cut short, To Gypsy had an eloquent letter wanted to send you but saw it was too long for this system, far too long. So please forgive me want to get to know you & if you want later, if you want can send the original in here is 37. Irish/German. Born on a farm, poor but rich where it matters. My zodiac dictates a lot of some of how act & conduct my am honest & hope to get to intrigue you enough so we could get to know each other. (fingers crossed) I am blunt, almost 2 honest, but sincere in everything say & do. Taught morals, manners, & acts like a good ol' boy with hopeless romantic twist. Obligations brought me to the city but still country at am a bit of jack of all trades with cars, home repair, & multiple other things as being poor my parents taught me to fix & reuse a lot we couldn't afford new. I've always aspired to an ideal family for my happy ending. have big dreams but the family happy ending is most important. A wife with whom never go to bed angry after we argue because loving 1 another & growing old together is more important. Children. Grandchildren. The works. My father instilled a lot of this in me & taught me a lot of what makes me who am manners, morals, familywise, & handymanwise. My mom taught me to respect women just as much as my dad did & to listen objectively/fairly & cook. There is more but here is one of the last parts wanted to be sure to send intact: keeping with my staying have to tell you the decided to send this letter after seeing you were married but hearing that perhaps you might have felt that you rushed things with that want to be the 1st to say am not trying to stir up any type of infidelity if this is value a woman's faithfulness to a man she loves. I value it because can't say I've ever fully experienced it myself So if that isn't apologize. must be honest would just want you to be happy with your future & the choices you make in it. But couldn't help raising an eyebrow when a young lady I saw on TikTok who stated they knew you mentioned that rumor. immediately thought to myself what my dad always taught me of "well if you don't try don't go blaming anyone for what you didn't get". So have to say, this is my attempt at calming my brain & reaching out to you to "try" & see what it results in. Friendship or more, would be happy.... just different levels & extents of happy for each one. I hope that doesn't come on too strong, & the idea that am interested in you in that sense doesn't put me outside the realms of the friend zone if you are actually truly happy with your current husband. say this all in respect hope you know. When it came to writing this, was either too scatterbrained in excitement that was going to reach out to you, too scared for the same reason as did not want to mess up, and to be honest a little insecure that might just come off as all the other guys do that am sure write you because they find you beautiful as well but just don't know how to go about it. wish could just put my personality into an entire letter & let you scan it to make your final approvals & know for sure if would hear from you but will have to have faith & cross my fingers & hope my letter is intriguing. suppose will close with just a couple questions for you. really would like to know more about you & u can ask me anything by all means feel free as well, I am an open book & have nothing to hide. If you didn't love him that way, you should not have drug him along for so long and especially married him. am in shock that you already are talking with someone else. You need to look up the word "Integrity" and learn to live as a woman of integrity. It's very obvious that you do have unresolved issues of how to deal with others especially those you care about or say you care about. You have zero relationship experiences and yet you seem to think you and your cohorts are experts in marriage and love. And trust me, that is far from the truth. I am upset and to be honest extremely angry. You are however, right in some ways.....1. You are a mess; 2. deserves better; and lastly, 3. you have much growing up to do in learning how to speak to those you care about.	page 964

11/05/2022 00:43:33	Outbound	Hi Mom, and have not spoken in a week. I had a very difficult conversation with him. It was about the lack of sexual chemistry. He felt very hurt, and for days he ignored me, and in that time let it sink in and didn't jump to end it. let him search his feelings and he wanted to work it out...I didn't. Ms Joy emailed me after deleted him off Securus because he called me names out of a broken heart which I let him have that because probably would do the same if was him. Ms Joy coaxed it out of me how feel and believe it is unspoken but we all feel it is best to separate. She had one request on his behalf that the documentary show him with dignity and kindness. I told her don't have that kind of control but would ask if his part can be removed all together. Which I and she said that she can do some rearrangements on the episode but can't remove his part entirely because this is a documentary about my life and our relationship was a big part of my life but we can maybe put less of his interview and the parts they filmed with him and instead add a phone interview with me talking about how made the decision to separate. wants a recorded call between YOU and ME talking about this so maybe have that recorder on your phone when call. I'll give as much as they need as filler to part. don't wanna put him through any more pain then he is already going through. wanted to wait until we both was sure and not just having a fight and the threat be thrown out just to say it like last month. This time know in my heart don't want this marriage. but I can't make those feelings be there when its not. I tried and I can't. feel so ashamed to be doing this. hate myself for hurting him. He was so good to me and am doing him so wrong. haven't told anyone except and the film team. Dad doesn't even know yet. If you wanna show this email to him you and know he was rooting for us. it has been a roller coaster ride of can. know dad supports both me and emotions but being on phone restriction really helped define my wants, dreams and needs because had NO one in my ear to pull me one way or the other. I've sure made a mess of my life. If my mother was alive she would be telling me told you so. 11/07/2022 23:43:03	Outbound	Hi Thanks for writing me. You did hear right, am currently separated from my husband. We had a huge argument last month and it caused me to rethink this marriage then he won me back over the same week and 3 weeks later am back in this zone of wanting to separate so right now have my mind made up and am trying to give him time to accept that this is my decision. My father isn't even yet aware we are not together is my best friend and I have known him for a little over 2 years and it isn't that he is a bad guy or that don't love him. It is because am just not ready for marriage. I've spent my whole life in a cage of some kind and need to spread my wings and fly. need to learn to love myself before can invite another person into my life in that way. All of my desires for a relationship has been about codependency and for the next year I'm going to do much needed work on myself and stay single. So with that being said I'm flattered but am not interested in a relationship at this point but i am open to meeting new people and getting to know you if you would like. My favorite flower is roses. Favorite musicians are: Eric Church, Taylor Swift, Matchbox Twenty, Breaking Benjamin, OneRepublic. Favorite Ice cream is Cookies and Cream. Favorite movie other then Disney honestly love film franchises like Star Wars, Lord of the Rings, Hunger Games Harry Potter. Favorite season is fall. Describe myself in 3 words, #1 Quirky, #2 Sensitive, #3 Optimistic Goals for the next 5 years, is to travel cross country road trip, see the northern lights and write my own memoir. want to explore abroad as well as domestically. Favorite quotes are: "To have a friend, you need to be a friend." and "Have Courage and be Kind." lam an open book, yet put up walls around my heart. I am glad you've made a decision wit! and I'm sorry you feel numb but try to think of the possibility of you being really happy one day with someone that really lights your fire. Don't settle on the idea of being married and happy. It will come and you'll know for sure. Make ya checklist now for what you expect from a guy and how you think he should make you feel. Sex isn't everything in a marriage but promise you if there isn't any sparks flying for those 1st couple years then you'll turn into a cold ass bitch in a year or 2 and nobody will be happy. Next would some natural traits like maybe being funny or gentle or strong or shy or weird. Then his situation/status. 11/10/2022 19:58:53	Inbound	Definitely glad to be writing you :) Definitely glad to be writing you & even more so to hear back. Its always sad to see a couple decide to go separate ways, regardless of the circumstances. I've seen it happen with a lot of friends. Even happened between my sons mother & I literally the same time my own parents did. But despite how it was, saw my parents become better people & even saw myself & my ex do the same, it can be good. Some are just meant to be friends, some aren't & sometimes a few end up back together when they each get to the right place in life. can understand tho why you arent ready for marriage. You have a lot of living to do & a whole lot of experiences to enjoy before you can really settle down for those married experiences. & you are right, def need to learn to love yourself before you can love others. have a bad habit of jumping into things too fast myself, thinking with my heart & not with my head as much as should. still kinda do it, obviously lol. Been engaged 3 times. 1st when was 16, & she sold the ring to take off to see another guy. 2nd when was 19 to a girl who was in love with my best friend & she took off with him. 3rd when was 24 to a girl had known & dated for years but she was still in love with her ex. Atleast she gave me the ring back though I suppose. still check in on her & her little ones from time to time. Per me putting myself out there for a relationship with you, apologize, was a little too forward in that. It was pure excitement from what heard. Not that Im not interested, but should think more logically in the sense that if you want a relationship with a person, it isn't just instant, its something you have to build just like a house with a solid foundation/friendship. As per relationships on a more personal note, too have a codependency to an extent as well in that I go all out just to make a person content/happy because it makes me happy seeing them happy. mean it isn't a bad thing but I'm slowly working on being able to recognize when that puts me in a bad position & learning to set boundaries, so can understand that. Despite that you arent interested in a relationship at this point, Im still just as excited to see a response & get the chance to know you & be your friend. respect your current choice to work on yourself. If more is meant to happen, then it happens, so be it. I'm just excited flattered you for now lol. You're a beautiful woman tho, & putting walls up around your heart is understandable. think it makes you respectable & nothing worth having is ever easy to get. That being said, I'll just say, I am no stranger in uphill climbs. Just sayin. But anyway. A few faves of mine, & if you're curious about anything else, am a very open book too so def ask. Top 5 in music: Red Sun Vedder, George Strait, & Elvis. Theres always an Elvis song for my moods. was into Matchbox 20, Breaking Benjamin, & 1Republic growing up. Fav ice cream: cookie dough. Fav movies: Into franchises too. have an insane collection of movies tho. quote movies in life when don't realize it. Fav season: fall, my sons, dads, grandpas, & my b-day is in it. Me in 3 words: optimistic(not copying lol), unyielding(in the sense that purposely try to succeed when someone says can't do something), selfless(bad habit of spreading myself thin to take care of everyone before myself). My 5 year goals: well that's always kinda fluid. have a lot of goals, too many. As per yours, if you ever head westward, let me know I grew up near Tombstone & Bisbee AZ, could show you around & see some cool stuff. Quotes: dad always says "go out and get what you're worth, don't blame anyone else if you're not where you want to be", "it is what it is", & "you get what you put in". Not the most positive ones, just what could think of. But thank you so much for responding. would love to hear more about things you like & enjoy. Excited to hear from you again, til then, be safe & take care.	page 1067

11/14/2022 12:30:15	Inbound	Glad to hear back from you! Hey Gypsy! hope you had a decent weekend! :) I'm glad to hear back from you. When got an e-mail saying that had a response was pretty excited. It's nice to finally see the words coming from the person themselves, other than the random BS you read online and see in the news about someone. I'm glad to know that you're in the honor wing. Keep your nose clean and your head up and your release date will be here before you know it. So you're eligible for parole next year, right? Or are you getting released for sure? Going into your release single is probably the best way to go haha. There's way more to this world than what you've endured so far, and way more people out there to meet, know and experience. I'm sorry your marriage isn't working out, but hope you ultimately find the happiness that you so desperately deserve. A little about me... Hmm... have three kids and I'm 36 years old (just turned 36 last month, actually). love tattoos, metal music, horror movies, BBQ, leather working, all the typical "midlife dad" type things that life has to offer hahaha. I'm from New Mexico and live in a pretty small town, so not much going on around here. Weekends are usually pretty boring, but with my work schedule throughout the week, a boring weekend is absolutely needed a lot of the times. Hope this letter didn't run on for too long, and also hope the messaging platform included the return stamp in my last message to you. clicked the box to include one, but didn't see the number go down. Eeek. I'll click it again, but if it doesn't include one, please let me know. don't want you wasting any of your stamps on little ol' me hahaha. Hope to talk again soon! Thanksgiving! Hey Gypsy! I just wanted to send you a message today to wish you a happy Thanksgiving! know that celebrating holidays while being locked up isn't ideal, but always be happy and thankful for your ability to see every day and to live every day to its fullest and finest. hope you have an amazing day today! Just sending a little note to say that am thinking of you and hope your holidays are bright and cheerful this year! :) Love. GvosvRose	page 639

The worst part was waiting for them to take me to the OR . Waiting and anxiety don't mix very well. Everyone was super sweet and supportive. The anesthesia knocked me out super fast and woke up in the recovery remembering them taking the mask off my face. They asked me if was in pain and said no even lifted my gown a bit to see if they did anything at all. And saw the marks when looked down felt an instant relief . don't have to worry anymore, there was no nausea or anything was able to eat and drink perfectly fine . My first meal was sushi and Tom yum soup ! Recovery has also been super easy hardly any pain at all. They worst part was pain in my shoulders from the gas they used to expand my stomach but that's gone now . Any sort of pain in my stomach has just been slight soreness. do have an oxy but I haven't needed any of it . I've been perfect comfortable with altering between ibuprofen and Tylenol. Ido as a husband and a best friend because he is both. sometimes have moments that get pulled away and many in my life praise me for pulling away from as they see it as I'm maturing by walking away from this marriage. am a people pleaser. always have been, Especially if it comes from family. I said things that didn't mean, he called me some pretty bad things out of hurt. We can be kinda mean to each other with our words sometimes, a pattern do not wish to continue, But more often then not we make each other more happier then ever. Yes, I'm a mess but you hit it on the head when you said want something with him can't quite have right now because of where am. That is 100% true. want a real life with him side by side. act out occasionally. do my best to contain my emotions but sometimes get overwhelmed and will tell anything to push him away. He is a champ and can handle the majority of my emotions but it can be hard on a person he is the closest to me in my life and he gets the brunt of it all. People don't give him nearly enough credit for how gentle he handles me. admit was scared burned bridges with this last episode of my acting out. When you sent me that email basically giving me a piece of your mind, it hurt. Mostly because you made very strong points that made me die inside. He does deserve better. But who is to say that can't become better for him? He is seeing his counsellor and will start with teletherapy talking with someone over the phone who is educated about psychology is a tool for us to use to understand one another and draw a safe and secure place to vent out what we think, feel and experience. If ever feel that am toxic to him and his well being will do the right thing and leave but for now, our issues are small and can be worked through. All ever want is him to be happy and happiness for myself as well. We have a lot of growing to do, but we are choosing to do it together.	page 964

Our company, Red Marble Media, produces several highly regarded series for Investigation Discovery (ID)/ Discovery +. I am working on a show about your case and wanted to see if you'd have any interest in speaking on-camera about the events leading up to your 2016 conviction. I'm sure you're aware there has been a lot of media attention surrounding your case. But believe that having your voice as part of the program is critical and so wanted to reach out. If you're able to call, my number I'd be happy to tell you more about show and answer any questions you might have. Thanks and best, Thank you for the holiday greetings. It was so sweet to hear from you and to be thought of. My holidays are very quiet. live where it is very cold and snowy in the winter too, so don't like this time of year much, but your note made me smile. Today is December 1, 2022. heard you are likely getting out in December of 2023. If that happens, every date, holiday, birthday, season... anything annual that you do from now until then will be the last time you do it behind bars! I am so excited for you to finally experience the world without a prison. You probably know that your name Gypsy comes from the Romany people who live and wander freely. have heard that where you are is a good place you learn and prepare for life outside. can't wait to hear how you soar as a free Gypsy. It might not be easy all the time, but with you have what it takes to make it work. What do you like to do in your spare time? Do you read or draw or write? used to be a teacher, but got really sick about 5 years ago and had to stop working. I've been trying to find new hobbies since it's hard for me to do some of the ones used to do like running and biking and crochet. hope this wasn't too long and boring. wanted to make sure to get our stamps' worth. Is there anything can do to make any of this easier on you right now? Please let me know. Gyp, baby, life is never going to be easy like we all think it will as we are growing up. There are always going to be decisions to make. agree therapy would be a great thing for you and him. Therapy together and then separate therapy. There is more that you need to deal with besides marriage. know therapy has been very limited while in prison so that is not your fault and covid precautions didn't help. My personal opinion, say with love for you, is you grew up watching DD run from problems. She'd get in trouble somehow and move. She couldn't fool a doctor about your health so she'd change to another one. This is all you have seen. This is what you know. We all are a product of our raising (as we southern people like to say) and you are no different in that. One day, baby, you are going to have to stop running and face the devil, so to speak, head on. You have a beautiful soul and love to be Marriage is work. Many people say you have to give 50/50 in a marriage to make it work. NO, that is wrong. If you only give your spouse 50 then you are only giving 1/2 of yourself That won't fix a thing and certainly won't make a marriage work. We all make mistakes as we grow up. Unfortunately, your mistakes are out there for the world to see. All we want is for you to live a happy private life. It's possible. It may be difficult at first but a private life for you is possible. Call me when you can. Let me know if can do anything to help. Pray about your decisions. Remember, to pray to God about decisions. He will give you the answers if you listen. know He helps me. and I continue to keep you in our prayers. I love you, lady bug. WE AN :-)	page 590

No rush though. did think of a couple more songs that really like: "Have You Forgotten" by the Red House Painters and "Lola Montez" by Volbeat. Take care Gypsy, look forward to hearing back from you but totally understand you having other things going on. The line of communication is always open so you just message me whenever you want. I'm definitely going to watch for it and share on FB. It's a shame that the board didn't "remorseful enough." felt like she tried to go in there composed and honest, and instead she got ripped down by people who didn't take any time to get to know her. I think saw you get out December of next year. That will be here before you know it!!! I'm happy for you. Just take your time getting to know people. So many people wear a fake smile and act cordial, but they will use you until there is nothing left to use. don't want to see that happen to you when you get out. think in some ways you were sheltered from that reality. (Of course, Gypsy, say this as a bitter 44 year old who has been used too much, and I still end up giving what can. My heart is too big and it's bitter-sweet. feel a lot, but get hurt a lot too.) Hi Everyone! hope everyone is having a wonderful holiday season. understand that there is quite a bit of speculation about a divorce between my husband and I. and are absolutely NOT getting divorced. 11/22/2022 10:18:46	Inbound	Hello Gypsy Gypsy, I'm sorry about your divorce. literally just read about it and felt like a grand ass for sending congratulations when it was actually ending. Relationships are hard. I'm 44 and I'm still struggling to decide what is best for my happiness. lost the right one, am with a good person who loves me, but the spark isn't there, and hold a spark for someone else who probably isn't good for me, but love him... and deciding what to do about it is hard — because love my partner's kids, and our one daughter is pregnant with our first grand baby. even love her, we just don't have that spark... so understand how emotional and difficult it can be... If you ever want talk, I'm here. Best wishes in all things, and Happy Holidays.	page 988

11/23/2022 10:43:16	Outbound	I'm not getting a divorce and had a disagreement last month and it led me to write an email talking about an annulment that someone shared to the wrong person and it spiraled out of hand. Everyone is reading some bullshit article in InTouch Weekly written by some yahoo! who don't know what the F she's talking about. Please share with everyone that do not believe the rumors. Ma and are the aver! We had a very visit and he still makes me a ciener hannvi found us an apartment, Its called The Oasis in Lake Charles. He emailed them to schedule a tour. :-) It So be is a one bed one bath which is all we need right now. We are doing really good. think him seeing a counselor has helped, also feel more comfortable in my role as a wife. admit did him wrong early last month and wasn't putting our marriage first. He forgave me for my wrong and we moved on but do hold myself in regret for hurting him even though I didn't act on my thoughts he knows that in my mind was unfaithful and entertained the idea of another. For two weeks put my marriage on pause to entertain someone else's company, this person my ex, by the way. and feel shitty about it and even balled my eyes out last night expressing how much regret those two weeks. If he wanted, he had every right to leave me but he didn't, he took his vows seriously the way should have. I think it made us stronger though. It made me see that don't want to lose him. told him going to straighten up, for him and for us. Things have been better now and going into the new year plan to put my best foot forward and be the woman he deserves.	page 987

11/23/2022 00:33:04	Inbound	Introduction Hello Gypsy, My name is (female). am quite a bit older than you are and followed your story from afar in 2015, but then lost touch since my own life went off the rails a bit. have seen recently that you have married and taken advantage of the opportunities in prison. Your strength and perseverance will get you far when you are eventually released. also know that many people have betrayed you, so am offering friendship if you are interested in getting to know a middle-aged stranger who doesn't want anything in return but to share some advice and likely learn quite a bit about life in return. have kept the confidence of many and would never care to have anyone know we are communicating. hope to hear from you, but either way, wish you and your husband the best of all that the world had to offer. Your future is bright	page 1068

11/24/2022 14:27:28	Inbound	Glad to hear back from you! Hey Gypsy! hope you had a decent weekend! :) I'm glad to hear back from you. When got an e-mail saying that had a response was pretty excited. It's nice to finally see the words coming from the person themselves, other than the random BS you read online and see in the news about someone. I'm glad to know that you're in the honor wing. Keep your nose clean and your head up and your release date will be here before you know it. So you're eligible for parole next year, right? Or are you getting released for sure? Going into your release single is probably the best way to go haha. There's way more to this world than what you've endured so far, and way more people out there to meet, know and experience. I'm sorry your marriage isn't working out, but hope you ultimately find the happiness that you so desperately deserve. A little about me... Hmm... have three kids and I'm 36 years old (just turned 36 last month, actually). love tattoos, metal music, horror movies, BBQ, leather working, all the typical "midlife dad" type things that life has to offer hahaha. I'm from New Mexico and live in a pretty small town, so not much going on around here. Weekends are usually pretty boring, but with my work schedule throughout the week, a boring weekend is absolutely needed a lot of the times. Hope this letter didn't run on for too long, and also hope the messaging platform included the return stamp in my last message to you. clicked the box to include one, but didn't see the number go down. Eek. I'll click it again, but if it doesn't include one, please let me know. don't want you wasting any of your stamps on little ol' me hahaha. Hope to talk again soon! Thanksgiving! Hey Gypsy! 11/26/2022 22:49:16	Inbound	marriage I'm happy you are working through things. I'd love to offer a few words of advice... 1. try to talk through any disagreements before going to bed. going to bed angry isn't good. 2. sometimes agreeing to disagree is okay, especially concerning religion or politics. 3. sometimes it is lonely when your partner works a different schedule, but it's not fun. it's for your mutual benefit to make money. 4. communication is important. sometimes you will misunderstand what the other person means. don't be afraid to ask if what you think is what they mean... you can avoid so many fights this way. 5. and last, always ask how the other person's day was, give him a kiss when he comes home and hug tight for a few seconds. you will feel closer and be happier. and let him know you would like him to respond the same way for you if you come home later. hope this advice helps you both throughout the years. i had to learn the hard way. best of luck, Gypsy! am really happy for you. love	page 988

It is a smaller class of 4-5 kids, same age group but the principal feels it would better suit him, and this new position would have him teaching all subjects. The principal made the decision to replace him with another social studies teacher she felt was more firm and has experience with urban/black youth which she hopes could handle the kids better since they are so ill behaved. is processing the principals decision. told him to take it as a new adventure and gives him more range of experience in teaching all subjects.	page 590

That one scene that he gets behind the masked guy and was so aggressive was so hot, it would have been so much better if it was with a chick though, me in my mind but anyway lol wasn't thrilled at the ending. I've been watching AHS since season 6 and this one just didn't thrill me. Well the biggest thing in my life recently was that got married to my best friend and I had a ceremony in July. can have him send you our wedding announcement photos. :-) There has been some speculation online that we are getting a divorce but it isn't true. We had a lot of ups and downs over the last 2 months and are working through our issues. Many online think they know everything if it is on social media but really all the gossip is funny bullshit. Part of me almost feels like need a little nudge to feel more comfortable with the idea of living outside of this place. think after so long became ok with it or maybe adapted to my surroundings because it was necessary at the time. have always just did what I had to to get through the day ya know. It is hard for me to imagine a life that can make my own choices and be free to have fun without a guard watching over me. family has learned more about me and they are very excited about me becoming an addition to the family. spoke with uncle over Thanksgiving and he is very nice. :-) enjoyed getting to feel more comfortable with talking with his side of the family now that we are married. I've always been super shy and guess didn't wanna feel out of place has never allowed me to feel less than or out of place. They all seem to be very welcoming. :-) anyhow	page 197

I'm not going to lie, liked you, but he did try to just be friends. Since that ended, some crazy made him believe stuff about you. He's gullible, IDK. 12/01/2022 16:17:13	Inbound	interview Hi Gypsy - hope you're well and doing okay. My name i and I'm a documentary TV producer. Our company, Red Marble Media, produces several highly regarded series for Investigation Discovery (ID)/ Discovery +. Iam working on a show about your case and wanted to see if you'd have any interest in speaking on-camera about the events leading up to your 2016 conviction. I'm sure you're aware there has been a lot of media attention surrounding your case. But believe that having your voice as part of the program is critical and so wanted to reach out. If you're able to call, my number I'd be happy to tell you more about show and answer any questions you might have. Thanks and best, Thank you for the holiday greetings. It was so sweet to hear from you and to be thought of. My holidays are very quiet. live where it is very cold and snowy in the winter too, so don't like this time of year much, but your note made me smile. Today is December 1, 2022. heard you are likely getting out in December of 2023. If that happens, every date, holiday, birthday, season... anything annual that you do from now until then will be the last time you do it behind bars! Iam so excited for you to finally experience the world without a prison. You probably know that your name Gypsy comes from the Romany people who live and wander freely. have heard that where you are is a good place you learn and prepare for life outside. can't wait to hear how you soar as a free Gypsy. It might not be easy all the time, but with you have what it takes to make it work. What do you like to do in you spare time? Do you read or draw or write? used to be a teacher, but got really sick about 5 years ago and had to stop working. I've been trying to find new hobbies since it's hard for me to do some of the ones used to do like running and biking and crochet. hope this wasn't too long and boring. wanted to make sure to get our stamps' worth. To be so sweetly thought of in your words written; emotional reaction to your words written! Got me all up in my feels! Fondness of feeling special straight to the heart. know I'll have tears when actually see you one day. It'll be overwhelming with emotion and make it real that someone I've cared for and thought about overtime, lots of time, is standing right there. I didn't realize until read that part, 'stood by my side throughout this that it's been so many years and so many letters and writings and life and stories and thoughts and concerns and feelings and almost to the other side! Wow, it's been one of a unique, altruistic, exquisite and also at times, it's been an unknown journey! And thank you for letting me be a part of it! From the first letter, reaching out and being something I've never ever done before—hope I've been there for you in ways that were helpful, beneficial, supportive and at times, made you laugh and smile; as well as it advanced over the years, you have known my care and concern, thoughts and love, hopes and dreams and many wishes come true for you:)) It was very pleasantly beyond what I expected. Above all else, is my deep appreciation for the friendship that we have. When wrote to you that we think of you as fam, meant it then and now and always!!	page 247

It is a smaller class of 4-5 kids, same age group but the principal feels it would better suit him, and this new position would have him teaching all subjects. The principal made the decision to replace him with another social studies teacher she felt was more firm and has experience with urban/black youth which she hopes could handle the kids better since they are so ill behaved. is processing the principals decision. told him to take it as a new adventure and gives him more range of experience in teaching all subjects.	page 590

We were on Zillow last night pouring through dozens of potentials but what need to do is ask my father if he would even be willing to allow me to use the funds from what the documentary paid to put a down payment on a house. 12/09/2022 00:31:23	Outbound	Dad, So wanted to talk with you about trying to figure out how to appropriately use my trust fund money or at least most of it towards stability. is still looking at apartments around Lake Charles and which is best for us but also a few days ago drove by this house for sale across from the school that he works at and just for the hell of it sent me a picture to show me that it was a nice house and what we would want for ourselves at some point. It got my wheels turning in my mind about the pros and cons of renting vs buying. Out of curiosity he called the number and inquired about the house and it cost $280,000 with $56,000 as a down payment with a 30 year fixed rate of $1,300 as a monthly payment. It is a 3 bed 2 bath. a little out of our price range. So talked to mon to pull advice from her and she let me know that interest rates are high right now to wait to see if they come down soon. We have been looking online at other houses in the Lake Charles area and there are many of them in nice newly established suburbs. Our plan is still to get into an apartment, however if by chance the perfect house comes available, and you andj could work together to discuss and work out the financial aspects of it, Could some, and do mean only some with your guidance of my money be used towards a down payment for a house? Not right right now... but maybe near future. is willing to take out a loan for a portion to pay for a down payment, however a house like what we saw would have to have us both chip in on it. It doesn't have to be that particular house, just one that fits our needs and we feel is perfect for us. We plan on having kids at some point, so a 2 or even 3 bedroom isnt unreasonable. know mom would be against us buying a house this soon, however I chose to spend my life So even if we only live in a apartment for a few months after get out then want to buy a house, as a couple witl working toward the common goal to build a life together, stability is important and exactly what my nest egg is for, My future. It is not really mom or even you to say that can't use my trust fund money for a house. However would be most greatful for any help in this matter keeping in mind that advice from my father means a lot and goes a long way with me. understand wanna protect my nest egg, and me, that is why would want you me to work together to make this all run smoothly.	page 199

12/12/2022 00:14:29	Outbound	Merry Christmas Hey Gypsy, It was nice hearing from you! hope you're having a good holiday season! What's the weather like where you're at? We were right in the path of the worst of the blizzard and are completely snowed in. was hoping for a white Christmas and it looks like got more than had hoped for lol. was always curious how the process of book writing works. So with a ghost writer do you tell them your story and they write it, or do you write it out and they edit and clean it up? hope you are able to get that worked out. When your book gets published I'd LOVE an autographed copy! Great to hear the show is coming together though, I'm looking forward to seeing it! I'm happy that your new life is finally within reach. know it can't come soon enough but in the grand scheme of things 12 months isn't too terribly long - though that still doesn't ease the anticipation and excitement you're probably feeling. I'm so rooting for you and happy thinking of you leaving there and getting to experience the world on your terms. You're gonna thrive, just know it. Are you going to look for a house as soon as you get out? got your update about his teaching position. hope that all works out for the best. don't want to make this too long. You know how have a tendency to ramble. It's always so nice hearing from you. If ever you want to call and talk on the phone again please feel free to give me a ring. I'm gonna be back on 10 hour shifts due to the holidays and work picking up so won't be getting home until after 7:30pm which is a bummer. Adulting sucks lol. Again, have a happy holidays! Not too much going on here lately and no particular Christmas plans for me really. just have been watching some holiday movies and taking each day as it comes. I'm like OMG it's the same day over and over, I'm living in groundhog day! LOL try to find new things to occupy my mind and time though. Writing my book is going slow. issues with my ghost writer arose and now we are back at square one and the initial proposal needs to be rewritten. Hopefully she can produce something by deadline of March. It is all so very complex. My new documentary for Lifetime Network is taking shape beautifully. The first 3 episodes are nearly done with editing and the last 3 are being written out and editing starts in 2 weeks. This new documentary should air in late March. I'll let you know a definite date when know one. I'm just so ready to go home. Prison was easy to accept at first, had known nothing of a normal life but after years of talking to people in the free world, know there is so much more that is beyond the gates and stone walls, and long to be a part of it. One year away. After a lifetime of waiting to be free, I'm just 12 more months from my dreams. :-)	page 245

It's better to start out in a more relaxed environment so he can focus on lesson plans rather than discipline. It's better for him and the students. can't imagine being in prison for as long as you have, and know you will likely have a little culture shock, but it will be worth it. said she didn't get a chance to show you the pics and videos sent yet, but she will. hope you enjoy them. We are doing dinner at home with our children and their fiances and my mother in law for Christmas. It should be nice. We are doing a small gift exchange, but nothing too extravagant. Things on the outside keep getting more and more expensive. pray we don't have a recession. Even grocery stores are struggling to keep stuff in stock. Your book will come in time, so don't worry too much about it. It's not like you need the money to live from the proceeds yet, so if it's a little late, think it might be a blessing in disguise. The TV series sounds interesting. Are you involved in the decision making as to what they show? That would be amazing, to get the whole real story out from beginning to end through your eyes. One year seems far away, but this time next year you will celebrate Christmas free, and hope it lives up to your expectations. It's what we make of being together that matters. Sometimes, think, regardless of your actual beliefs, the solace of a Christmas mass is good for the soul. A friend was helping stay clean from drugs convinced me to go with him and kind of enjoy it. hadn't been to church in about 20 years. I just want to wish you the best for 2023, Gypsy, and my heart feels joy when think of you getting out and getting to spend time with your family and husband. Merry Christmas, my friend. Unfortunately, have become sick as mentioned before and it makes it hard for me to crochet much anymore. know the joy of creating and especially of sharing creations! am glad you have that joy and distraction in your life. Are you able to watch tutorials? Are you able to get enough supplies to last you 3 months? I am so thrilled for you to be out in a year!!!! am sure the transition will be difficult, but it sounds like you have a supportive husband and certainly have the spirit to survive. There also seems to be a very supportive ex-prisoner community, that a cousin of mine considers a second family. hope you have as good of a Christmas as possible. 12/25/2022 16:31:54	Inbound	Merry Christmas Hey Gypsy, It was nice hearing from you! hope you're having a good holiday season! What's the weather like where you're at? We were right in the path of the worst of the blizzard and are completely snowed in. was hoping for a white Christmas and it looks like got more than had hoped for lol. was always curious how the process of book writing works. So with a ghost writer do you tell them your story and they write it, or do you write it out and they edit and clean it up? hope you are able to get that worked out. When your book gets published I'd LOVE an autographed copy! Great to hear the show is coming together though, I'm looking forward to seeing it! I'm happy that your new life is finally within reach. know it can't come soon enough but in the grand scheme of things 12 months isn't too terribly long - though that still doesn't ease the anticipation and excitement you're probably feeling. I'm so rooting for you and happy thinking of you leaving there and getting to experience the world on your terms. You're gonna thrive, just know it. Are you going to look for a house as soon as you get out? got your update about his teaching position. hope that all works out for the best. don't want to make this too long. You know how have a tendency to ramble. It's always so nice hearing from you. If ever you want to call and talk on the phone again please feel free to give me a ring. I'm gonna be back on 10 hour shifts due to the holidays and work picking up so won't be getting home until after 7:30pm which is a bummer. Adulting sucks lol. Again, have a happy holidays! Thinking of you! Holidays and GypsyRose Anderson. :)	page 1061

12/27/2022 17:11:03	Inbound	You're welcome! Hey! My holiday was great last week got to hang with my pagan friends! missed them SO much, we drank sang danced ate delicious food. We had a magical gift exchange and did it white elephant style which is when everyone brings a gift and you get numbered off too see which order every gets to go. Then all the gifts are in a pile and whoever's turn it is has to pick a gift from the pile, then they have to show everyone what they got and who ever is next can either steal from that person or pick a new gift from the pile. And it just keeps going until everything is opened. It's very fun and competitive. :D. ended up with a Yule log spell candles and a ouija board candle holder . And got to hang with my dad and we went to my aunt and uncle's house on my mom's side. Then on Xmas eve my sister , hubby and niece came over and we had Italian food. It was delicious ended up getting a really nice coat 2 pairs of pants , and I'm getting a remote start for my car which will be super nice so don't have to go all the way out to get my car warmed up . Because as have mentioned it's been colder than a witch's tit lately. also got some amethyst crystal lights to hang somewhere . have leggings coming too. also got new pjs . My dad got me a cool battery pack thing that can jumpstart cars charge electronics it comes with a flashlight etc. That weighted heating pad will be super nice especially that time of the month ;) . And the skincare stuff hell yeah you're skin is gonna be looking hella good . will tell you right now that you are gonna love the air fryer we use ours all the time and it makes everything delicious! And nice bath towels are a must . I'll probably get you some good bath and shower stuff when you get out so you can have the most relaxing time of your life ! And Ofcourse figure you can always use some cash . can't wait for you to get out you are SO close celebrate every	page 872

12/27/2022 19:15:57	Inbound	Hello :) Hi Gypsy, Our Christmas was pretty quiet. We cooked quite a little feast of turkey, ham, stuffings, mashed potatoes and gravy, corn, and sweet potatoes with butter and brown sugar. The kids were here with their boyfriends and Bridget's mom was here. Owen, a friend who is temporarily staying with us, was also here. We exchanged gifts. received a lot of Harry Potter stuff, a lighted rose with butterflies in a globe (like Beauty and the Beast), and a gift card. bought Bridget a criminal minds game, because she likes the show, and a massage gun and display glass turtle. won't get into what we got the kids and they got her, but everyone seemed happy with their gifts. We bought Owen gifts too... mostly sweatshirts. My dogs got greenies and milkbones and a little people food. I can be quirky too. like to take pictures of my feet when go somewhere special or on vacation. LOL. I am glad your holiday seems like it was special for you, and really am so happy you will spend it with your husband next year. Sending love and well wishes.	page 987

'Cause well, you know got one too and got you loll I'll sit and think and write to you this afternoon cause it's gonna be a long one ha! For real tho, have experienced that judgement and condescending attitude. I'll tell ya all about it; and how dealt with it. In the meantime, don't ever, ever let those words, names or being stereotyped affect you at all. You are none of that. You have to remember, you are a very unique and one of a kind human being on this planet thru no fault of your own. You are so out of the ordinary that no one at all can put you in a category. Just that you're here and you have hope and see the positive energy and you're looking forward to a wonderful future and most of your outlook is positive –don't ever let that go! I truly don't believe that most people could have had your circumstances and still be here to talk about it. You are one of the most strongest women that know of in this world. And know you don't see your strength as well or as much as do. Baby girl what you don't understand is that your world is about to open up to horizons and paths you've never traveled. It's about to be time for the world to be yours and they should be happy just to be in it. don't mean that in a mean way. They have and they know freedoms that you've never known before. A lot of time, personal space, patience would be good words; not derogatory or offensive words. They don't understand and what people don't understand, they fear. I've been where you've been physically and emotionally and get it. I'm actually looking forward to you getting out that cocoon and getting your wings and fly, butterfly. You once told me that you would be like a newborn baby– take those first steps, slow and easy and you will discover who you truly are and until then; don't let no one cage you freebird!! loves you and he's in it with you.. and that's what you want.. you do you and the cards will fall where they may with his family. You don't have to explain, you don't have to justify, you don't have to prove anything to anyone except And at the end of the day, who makes you happy? My bad, got carried away but I will still write you later when have time to get my thoughts together instead of rambling on. Mostly want the point being– you DESERVE the best of what the worlds got to offer and accept no less!!)	page 245

The fact of the matter is you made a decision that was bad, but you did so under horrible circumstances most people cannot imagine living through. Unfortunately, murder leaves a stain, even if your freedom from being used and stopping the drugs was at stake. Many people don't, or can't image, to put themselves in your shoes. They also aren't considering that you didn't weild the knife and probably couldn't have done it if you had to... sympathize with your situation because you were terribly abused, even though your mother probably believed she loved you more than herself. She was sick and you needed to save yourself. You've paid your dues now, Gypsy, and any way you look at it, this is your past, and somehow you need to leave it there. It's not who you are now. The truth is, Gypsy, most in-laws will find something wrong with you and talk about you behind your back if you were in prison or not. Family worries about their kin, and sometimes that means they will take their blood's side, even before they know the whole story. The good thing is his family loves him if they are telling him they are worried, so that means they are caring people. Generally, over time, as family members get to know you better and trust you, they will start to love you too, and then they will slow in taking sides until they hear you both out. The important thing is loves you, and he married you. Just assure him you love him back and the rest will come in time. hope you can be happy when you are released. But why do feel with all the negative comments, get a family who sees me as some prison piece of ass who has the affection of their sweet It all builds up and some things feel doesn't need to be voiced only coped with because can be a little emotionally crazy sometimes but this was on my heart. might be wrong about how they view me but all know is most are on guard when it comes to me and my little divorce alarm bell freak outs didn't make them feel at ease. That is on me though. Live and learn on that one. I'm trying to prove my worth and show am better then what they think, flashing my status as a public figure of inspiration hasn't been successful at doing that so maybe more hands on with them in person and them seeing how much will show my true character.	page 1046

Unfortunately think that kind of faultfinding and over critical mindset is built into their culture. think the fact that they're willing to give you a chance though is a really good sign. Even if there's that small sense of apprehension beneath the surface, the fact that his mom and the others haven't written you off completely means that there is absolutely an opportunity to strengthen and form a relationship with them. It sucks that they didn't embrace you unconditionally with open arms but to be honest feel like that doesn't actually happen as often as it seems. think more often than not there is that suspicion of whether this person is good enough for their son or daughter. At least it's not a situation where dead-set against your's and marriage, or giving him an ultimatum of "us or her". I'd say all things considered you have a real opportunity here of quelling any doubts or concerns and showing them that you are indeed the right woman for their son. Your situation is a very unique one and unfortunately not everybody is quite so open minded, but from the way you describe it it sounds like the majority of his family are willing to accept you, even if there might be some apprehension at the current moment. It might take a little time but you only have 12 months left and you can be with them in person and show them that any concerns they may have had were unfounded. If you take anything away from what I've written here, please let it be this: whatever does end up happening please don't change who you are simply for the sake of being accepted. Sadly you've already somewhat been in that position before, albeit against your will, but forming to someone else's standards to be accepted will only make you unhappy and be fair to them or yourself Be unapologetically yourself and if that's not good enough for them then that's their loss. 12/29/2022 00:35:13	Inbound	hola lam so happy to hear you had a great Christmas! Cindy LooHoo is a fantastic name for an air fryer, bet you'll make all are thinking of getting a sorts of tasty food with her once you get to use her! looked up the area where you andj place. Absolutely beautiful. That type of terrain is so foreign to me living up north. We have the Great Lakes but aside from that the landscape is quite bland. Louisiana looks so beautiful though. Please don't be too hard on yourself over the situation wit You're only human, Gypsy (or do you prefer Rose?). Not only that, you went from living the majority of your life very sheltered and with very little interaction to suddenly having the attention of different guys, it's only natural that your thoughts would wander at some point. It sounds completely understands this and is willing to move on from it. was actually thinking about you today at work and trying to imagine how would react to being in your situation. To go from living my quiet, solitary life to suddenly having the entire nation knowing my name and details of my life, a movie made about me, and Dr. Phil reaching out for an interview. Granted never experienced even a fraction of the things you've been through but even still, that would be a massive change to adapt to. With everything you've been through and all the changes had to endure, it's completely understandable that you'd question what you want for your future. never been married but do know that all relationships have their trials and tribulations, and often times it's these types of hardships that can actually strengthen a relationship. Maybe this experience will make what you andj have that much stronger. No matter what happens though just hope you find true happiness within yourself the most important thing. You've been through so much, you deserve to be happy. Regardless, I'm glad you're doing well. Have you gotten any snow in your neck of the woods? Traw	page 1061

'Cause well, you know got one too and got you loll I'll sit and think and write to you this afternoon cause it's gonna be a long one ha! For real tho, have experienced that judgement and condescending attitude. I'll tell ya all about it; and how dealt with it. In the meantime, don't ever, ever let those words, names or being stereotyped affect you at all. You are none of that. You have to remember, you are a very unique and one of a kind human being on this planet thru no fault of your own. You are so out of the ordinary that no one at all can put you in a category. Just that you're here and you have hope and see the positive energy and you're looking forward to a wonderful future and most of your outlook is positive –don't ever let that go! I truly don't believe that most people could have had your circumstances and still be here to talk about it. You are one of the most strongest women that know of in this world. And know you don't see your strength as well or as much as do. Baby girl what you don't understand is that your world is about to open up to horizons and paths you've never traveled. It's about to be time for the world to be yours and they should be happy just to be in it. don't mean that in a mean way. They have and they know freedoms that you've never known before. A lot of time, personal space, patience would be good words; not derogatory or offensive words. They don't understand and what people don't understand, they fear. I've been where you've been physically and emotionally and get it. I'm actually looking forward to you getting out that cocoon and getting your wings and fly, butterfly. You once told me that you would be like a newborn baby– take those first steps, slow and easy and you will discover who you truly are and until then; don't let no one cage you freebird!! loves you and he's in it with you.. and that's what you want.. you do you and the cards will fall where they may with his family. You don't have to explain, you don't have to justify, you don't have to prove anything to anyone except And at the end of the day, who makes you happy? My bad, got carried away but I will still write you later when have time to get my thoughts together instead of rambling on. 01/01/2023 01:19:23	Outbound	Re: Advice So this is a tough one, not gonna lie. Speaking as someone who comes from a fundamentalist Christian family know all too well how judgmental they can be. Unfortunately think that kind of faultfinding and over critical mindset is built into their culture. think the fact that they're willing to give you a chance though is a really good sign. Even if there's that small sense of apprehension beneath the surface, the fact that his mom and the others haven't written you off completely means that there is absolutely an opportunity to strengthen and form a relationship with them. It sucks that they didn't embrace you unconditionally with open arms but to be honest feel like that doesn't actually happen as often as it seems. think more often than not there is that suspicion of whether this person is good enough for their son or daughter. At least it's not a situation where dead-set against your's and marriage, or giving him an ultimatum of "us or her". I'd say all things considered you have a real opportunity here of quelling any doubts or concerns and showing them that you are indeed the right woman for their son. Your situation is a very unique one and unfortunately not everybody is quite so open minded, but from the way you describe it it sounds like the majority of his family are willing to accept you, even if there might be some apprehension at the current moment. It might take a little time but you only have 12 months left and you can be with them in person and show them that any concerns they may have had were unfounded. If you take anything away from what I've written here, please let it be this: whatever does end up happening please don't change who you are simply for the sake of being accepted. Sadly you've already somewhat been in that position before, albeit against your will, but forming to someone else's standards to be accepted will only make you unhappy and be fair to them or yourself Be unapologetically yourself and if that's not good enough for them then that's their loss. I do hope it works out sincerely On the flip side though how your family has taken it was in my head and venting in my previous email last night, probably should have journaled how w: instead of emailing bu assured me his family likes me. His brother is however kinda nuts lol Happy New ear!!! The fact of the matter is you made a decision that was bad, but you did so under horrible circumstances most people cannot imagine living through. Unfortunately, murder leaves a stain, even if your freedom from being used and stopping the drugs was at stake. Many people don't, or can't image, to put themselves in your shoes. They also aren't considering that you didn't wield the knife and probably couldn't have done it if you had to... sympathize with your situation because you were terribly abused, even though your mother probably believed she loved you more than herself She was sick and you needed to save yourself You've paid your dues now, Gypsy, and any way you look at it, this is your past, and somehow you need to leave it there. It's not who you are now. The truth is, Gypsy, most in-laws will find something wrong with you and talk about you behind your back if you were in prison or not. Family worries about their kin, and sometimes that means they will take their blood's side, even before they know the whole story. The good thing is his family loves him if they are telling him they are worried, so that means they are caring people. Generally, over time, as family members get to know you better and trust you, they will start to love you too, and then they will slow in taking sides until they hear you both out. The important thing is loves you, and he married you. Just assure him you love him back and the rest will come in time. hope you can be happy when you are released. 01/03/2023 00:08:08	Outbound	My dad loves him, my stepmother has always been seemingly supportive but has her moments that she is only supporting me and not him. So like a few months ago whe and had a argument she basically sidelined him and told me should get the marriage annulled and then ifi wanna date him later can but its better to just get the annulment. 3 days before got married, she told me to wait and talk me out of it. So mean feel they like him but have a certain level of caution. recently came into some moola and so they want my money to be untouchable to him eventhough we are married and do want to build a life together. They have high expectations for him to take care of me provide for me, Like getting our own place is all on his shoulders and he can't touch any of my money to be able to provide for us. That to me isn't fair. They want him to shoulder the weight of two people on one persons salary. With his salary and a little help from my trust fund we can get a nice ass house but my parents won't allow him to do that for us right now. They still are cautious about us getting anything together like a house because they wanna make sure he can't get to my money in case we don't work out and end up divorcing. Which understand, but lov and want to start having children soon so eventually they need to trust that he won't take advantage of me and retain my money and let me pitch in something for our stability. Other then that they like him.	page 1060
01/03/2023 15:35:45	Outbound	Hell I appreciate you passing the message to me, however there is a reason why chose to end that friendship and haven't spoken t in a year. She betrayed my trust by communicating with a woman she knows is my worst hater, siding with that woman in making hateful comments about my family. have kept quiet and haven't spoken on this matter because chose not to create drama but that was a huge blow to our friendship. My husband, who am NOT divorcing despite speculation online, told me she made a new TikTok video expressing her desire to be friends again and just can't bring myself to do so. My life has been drama free because don't have to worry about what she is saying online about me, who is she talking to about my personal life, ect. have nothing bad to say about her, and wish her the best but I just can't pick up those old strings. wish her followers on TikTok could see this email and understand why chose not to continue that friendship. Please know I'm not mad at you for emailing me just can't do as she would like. if you wish to let her know and or share this that is ok too. Thanks	page 1066

I'm like OMG it's the same day over and over, I'm living in groundhog day! LOL try to find new things to occupy my mind and time though. Writing my book is going slow. issues with one of my ghost writers arose and now we are back at square one and the initial proposal needs to be rewritten because she originally wrote it in 3rd person and that is not my vision for my book. Hopefully she can produce something by deadline of March. It is all so very complex. need her to write a good proposal so we can start to pitch to publishing companies and get a buyer. enlisted the help of a New York Times best selling author to help with my memoir as well, so there is a team put together to make this book happen. My new documentary for Lifetime Network is taking shape beautifully. The first 3 episodes are nearly done with editing and the last 3 are being written out and editing starts in 2 weeks. This new documentary should air in late March. I'll let you know a definite date when know one. I'm just so ready to go home. Prison was easy to accept at first, had known nothing of a normal life but after years of talking to people in the free world, know there is so much more that is beyond the gates and stone walls, and I long to be a part of it. One year away. After a lifetime of waiting to be free, I'm just 12 more months from my dreams. :-)	page 908

01/06/2023 15:08:58	Inbound	my thoughts on insults “Thank you, I'll take that as a compliment and wear it as a badge of honor” Darling Gypsy girl <— think the names call ya are cute lol! That statement above is my response to an insult!! Throws the person off guard and takes away their power to have a negative affect on my mindset!! ve been discriminated against because of substandard homes, cars, jewelry, lack of money and mostly, mostly judged by my tattoos!! It's others opinions and jokes on them. For one, I'm very highly educated and natural born intelligence (which you have, see it in you) which don't always reveal so if I'm treated stupid, laugh to myself because could dance education around them to make their head spin; but a person of that caliber, is not worth my time. So rise above it would say?! Now, the lack of money, substandard material possessions (which I'm not materialistic at all by choice) now that have some higher end and higher priced material possessions, Don't Forget who helped me up and who pushed me down, know what mean?? If someone is good to me, I'm good to them. go at everyone with respect. And always give second chances, well really 10-50 second chances lol! but that's one of my faults! If the mean person has no direct effect on my life; disassociate. Although in family situations, that's tough!! have a sister-in-law who is bachelors, masters and PhD educated but dumb as a rock. Because of her 'status' she constantly insults me every time I'm around her. And she's so shady, she does most of it behind everyone's back. I've discussed it with my husband many many times (his sister) but he doesn't want to engage it and hurt her feelings! also embraced freedoms I've never known. I've been married since was 16 (3rd marriage but this one is 24yrs+ in the making lol!) Had my first child as a child at age 17- now all my children are grown and gone onto their beautiful lives... and I'm only responsible for me now. I've never lived without responsibility of another person until 2yrs ago when my St Jude boy Bradley moved on his own and doing beyond!! So much of that prior past is what you and I have so much in common but that's a conversation for the outside;) Anyhow, standing on my own, will defend myself cause fail, fall or success, won't bring my children down. So this is going to be a learning process for me as well. do like my comeback tho, it seems to always work: :)) “Thank you, I'll take that as a compliment and wear it as a badge of honor” And our roads less traveled that we were forced to take... endured every scar, every pain, every heartbreak, every tear... would wear as a badge of honor! Because the good stuff, (happiness, feelings) it's only intensified and appreciated like no other; and those feelings and that happiness that you personally embrace, no one but you can understand!! A classy person makes everyone feel comfortable!! Don't ever accept an insult by anyone as personal; cause people like us, (that happiness, that passion, that joy in our	page 246

01/06/2023 11:22:51	Inbound	I've been listening to several podcasts on have "The Talk" He is 14 now and he does go to Catholic School however it can't hurt to have that conversation the right way. and have always have and it is sweet includes me in thins ppy friday... hey gypsy! love getting TWO messages from you this morning. the legal team decided that it is okay for us to face since we are not portraying him in any sort of negative light or saying anything defamatory about him. he won't spent a great deal of time on him, but since he was part of your life and you shared a relationship with him that impacted and helped shape you (in some ways), he is worth devoting a bit of time to. really it is to show the progression in your relationships and highlight and the relationship you share with him is different and you're different with him because of all you've gone through. i could not agree more that it's not too earlier to have "the talk" 14 is certainly old enough, in my opinion. you are so good to try and figure out the best way to approach a sometimes sensitive subject, especially with teenagers. i think it's important to know that he has someone willing and open to talk to him in an honest way. i'm getting so excited about our next round of recreations/visualizations. i hope/expect they will be as creative and beautiful as our first round :) okay, lady, i better get to work. i hope you have a good weekend and i'll look forward to talk soon. cd	page 1028

The new documentary playing with being so close to your release date ~ you're gonna be famous again!! In the limelight! I'm sure that paparazzi try to go on you and honeymoon; surely they right? There's an app called NewsBreak and because you're from Louisiana suppose; the local news posted notifications when your marriage got out to the media. The app was flashing “breaking news” across Misty's phone screen. With the alert, we didn't know if it was a Hurricane or tomado coming or missing child— it was your wedding omg and that's how me and heard about it. lol know in this area, it was a major story; so I'm sure your release will be as well. asked me that awhile ago- “when Gypsy gets out, do you think people that see her around and recognize her will walk up to her and ask her for her autograph?” told her I didn't know. To think, who does time and comes out with so much support and love and famous and fans— a Legend!! lol Well I'm online on my account website tonight instead of the app, so added funds to something called Advance Connect and transferred 10 stamps over to ya to write to your hubs and other loved ones:~) didn't realize those services were there 'til just now lol! 02/05/2023 16:35:37	Inbound	apartment Good afternoon sweetie, wanted to drop you a line regarding apartments for you and has shared with me your concerns and do understand why you are anxious. wanted to take a few minutes to try to bring a little more perspective to the situation. Gypsy, last year had to co-sign on lease because of his bad credit and his situation is on federal parole for 3 years and was on state parole for 1 year. His federal PO comes by about once a quarter and his state PO came only once in the years time. He was required to text a monthly report and to pay the monthly fee online. Never has either of them asked for the lease nor go to the office to validate anything. Their goal was/is to see that the address is a real one and actually lives there. am not sure has ever said anything to you roommate = youngest son and he has a felony record as well. When we signed lease, never and never put him down as a resident. In December, we just resigned the lease and didn't add him this time either goes to the office, works out in the exercise room and has never been questioned. I say all of this to you because while understand your concerns, don't think your name has to be on the lease. This is a corporate rule for the background check and nothing more. West M apartments is a large complex and by the time you move in, the lease will be filed away and no one will remember as is the case with Matt. These apartments are beautiful, large and in a nice area of town. know you will feel safe and y'all will be very has been very careful to find just the right place for as he says, "my beautiful wife". 02/15/2023 18:30:59	Outbound	love you Baby, We just want you happy. We also want you happy. Please call me soon. I am so excited to see my blanket. described it to and we are so excited to get it. Is there anything I can do to make any of this easier on you right now? Please let me know. Gyp, baby, life is never going to be easy like we all think it will as we are growing up. There are always going to be decisions to make. agree therapy would be a great thing for you and him. Therapy together and then separate therapy. There is more that you need to deal with besides marriage. know therapy has been very limited while in prison so that is not your fault and covid precautions didn't help. My personal opinion, say with love for you, is you grew up watching DD run from problems. She'd get in trouble somehow and move. She couldn't fool a doctor about your health so she'd change to another one. This is all you have seen. This is what you know. We all are a product of our raising (as we southern people like to say) and you are no different in that. One day, baby, you are going to have to stop running and face the devil, so to speak, head on. You have a beautiful soul and love to be Marriage is work. Many people say you have to give 50/50 in a marriage to make it work. NO, that is wrong. If you only give your spouse 50 then you are only giving 1/2 of yourself That won't fix a thing and certainly won't make a marriage work. We all make mistakes as we grow up. Unfortunately, your mistakes are out there for the world to see. All we want is for you to live a happy private life. It's possible. It may be difficult at first but a private life for you is possible. Call me when you can. Let me know if I can do anything to help. Pray about your decisions. Remember, to pray to God about decisions. He will give you the answers if you listen. know He helps me. and I continue to keep you in our prayers. I love you, lady bug. WE AN :-)	page 590

Anyway I'm happy those photos made it there even if it took 3 months.	page 1028

The new documentary playing with being so close to your release date ~ you're gonna be famous again!! In the limelight! I'm sure that paparazzi try to go on you and honeymoon; surely they right? There's an app called NewsBreak and because you're from Louisiana suppose; the local news posted notifications when your marriage got out to the media. The app was flashing “breaking news” across Misty's phone screen. With the alert, we didn't know if it was a Hurricane or tomoado coming or missing child— it was your wedding omg and that's how me and heard about it. lol know in this area, it was a major story; so I'm sure your release will be as well. asked me that awhile ago- “when Gypsy gets out, do you think people that see her around and recognize her will walk up to her and ask her for her autograph?” told her I didn't know. To think, who does time and comes out with so much support and love and famous and fans— a Legend!! lol Well I'm online on my account website tonight instead of the app, so added funds to something called Advance Connect and transferred 10 stamps over to ya to write to your hubs and other loved ones:)) didn't realize those services were there 'til just now lol! 03/07/2023 16:10:16	Outbound	I'm going to talk tonight and if he is comfortable doing a podcast with me, Can the contract be negotiated with his participation in mind? Meaning can place an additional power of attorney for signing for me. feel if he and work on a project together, our earnings should be shared and dealings be between he and not me and my parents for and do together. has never sent me check stubs by the way. think she just gets busy and forgets. just wish was given more transparency than and make it in my opinion	page 090
03/07/2023 19:17:19	Outbound	Hi spoke with him and he feels like we are on board for the podcast. He does want to talk with you on the phone to ask some more questions he has about it so when it is convenient for you and it is after 5pm central time he would love to chat Like mentioned in my previous email, remember you explaining to us that for my documentary contract did not include and any further possible episodes we would have to get him his own contract, so with that being said when it comes to the podcast contract want him to be protected and included in these dealings as he would be doing this with me. So between you and i, have been having a slight fear. My parents are retaining my earnings from the documentary and have it in a trust account and honestly I'm starting to wonder IF they will fully allow me to control the account when get out or if they will only add my name to it upon release I'm just feeling anxiety that they will not fully allow me the independence that want. I do find it somewhat rude of them to shoulder the financial responsibility of two people on one person's paycheck and not even offer to help in some way or buy so much as a gift for our apartment. mom has been so helpful she bought us appliances, towels, dishes, bathroom mats and more, to help me purchase a comforter set for $100 for our bedroom and instructed her to use the money from my earnings. I had to talk her into it because she didn't want to at first, she made excuses not to buy it right now. Then called her and explained want to buy something for our place, She then agreed. would never spend my money in a way it would be considered unwise or irresponsible. is literally paying for everything and all wanted to do was buy something for our apartment so that hesitant tone had has now sent my mind on a whole trauma trigger episode. and if can call it - \ As it stands, I'm not giving up on my marriage. As much as get pulled as a single woman and think occasionally how nice it would be, the bond that I share with him pulls me far greater back to him. have spent every day for over two years sharing my life with him in some way and to lose him would be another heartbreak	page 091
03/07/2023 15:11:35	Outbound	Hey Dad, Now there is plans with the network of a possible podcast that picks up where the documentary leaves off The podcast will feature me answering questions and discussing the remaining months until my release date. This news comes with mixed emotions for me. On one hand it is nice to have #1 a revenue of income and #2 a large platform to drown out the haters But...it is still extremely draining, time consuming and still leaves me with little privacy. I am going to talk with him tonight and see even if he would be open to doing a podcast with me. I'm sure listeners will love our playful banter and us being able to answer questions together but if this is something that he doesn't want to do, I'll never make him do anything he doesn't feel comfortable doing. This aspect of my life the "Business Entertainment side" can manage solo, but anticipate there will be a demand and interest in as well. just never want to resent me like does for being well known in the public eye. think every boyfriend I've had knew that this is for a lack of better words my baggage and if boundaries need to be set then we can do that but it is to be expected my partner will be seen to the general public as an interest just like my life will always be a discussion piece has been very accepting and great at handling it but want to make sure he is comfortable doing more than just what his participation was in the documentary.	page 197

03/08/2023 11:48:29	Inbound	Hiya! Good to hear from you! How are you? I'm good... excited to get this proposal closer to completion! Can we schedule a call for some Qs in the next week or so? My agent thinks that we should expand a little on the positive memories you have of childhood before you got "sicker and sicker." Let me know if that sounds like a good topic... agree w/ her that it would be a good contrast to showing how things got so confined for you – showing how early on you were allowed to know your family/cousins when you were little, what kinds of family gatherings you remember, where they would be held, what kind of food was served, who would be there, was there music, games you would play, etc. If this sounds good to you, that would be great... I'm free afternoons/early evenings usually, but could do after dinner or weekend. Just let me know what works w/ you... Here in upstate NY it is starting to seem a BIT like spring. went to see a friend in Baton Rouge for a quick Mardi Gras visit. We only went to Nola on Lundi Gras (Monday), cuz it is sposedly "less crazy." But it was pretty crazy! We walked on Bourbon St. for a while which was great people-watching. Say hi xo Maria	page 1006

03/15/2023 22:13:56	Outbound	Hi read the book proposal to me and what found is...without trying to be insulting, that the overall framework of words was bare boned. It reminded me of listening to Forest Gump and made me cringe. It was your very basic wording. often use more intellectual words for example instead of saying "People said my mom poisoned my step grandm I would have said "It was speculated that my mother had poisoned my step with RoundUp" also uses mom and actually rarely call my mother mom, refer to her as mother because now call mom. Also there were consistent repetitive words and words that should have used commas where the repetitive words were placed. The story read very factual however lacked emotion, texture, and immersion and to a degree intelligence. One thing everyone comments on even when living with my mother is how articulate am with words and that did not translate with the way this reads. NOTES #1 My mother did not work at the hospital after was born she took a job at a bar called PJs when was toddler age and later took odd jobs such as photo restoration on her computer. #2 It reads more then once that i had no participation in Mommy Dead and Dearest but I did participate in the HBO documentary Mommy Dead and Dearest, however did not have financial compensation. and it was not a docuseries it was a single documentary. #3 In the beginning it read "My childhood was great but then I got sick" Then the next paragraph reads had x amount of surgical procedures at 11 months old." That is contradictory to the beginning paragraph. From birth my mother claimed was sick however as a child at least was allowed to be more social with my mother's side and have some good memories as a child, would not say great though. and did not mutually break up, he left me devastatingly brokenhearted. want readers to feel the strength of the pain that felt. After all had gone through, thought had went through it to get to this person who would love me and he let me down just like everyone else in my life. jotted down other notes of errors in grammar and proper English and pretty much the same notes. For a proposal it is ok but NOT want to write the manuscript. just can't see a whole book of this shit. it is all facts and no heart. Nothing tugged at me to make me feel anything but bored and depressed.	page 084

Thus far my father has always kept negotiations between us for all media projects and all those negotiations went through my father. Now that am married want to start allowing my husband to be included. This is my issue.. my father and want to make sure my book deal and any compensation for such projects is kept in their hands because they are not sure if #1 am responsible enough to handle my own money, and #2 they are still hesitant about allowing me to have joint marital money especially when it is a possible six figure book deal. My father wants to make sure that and get a divorce at any point, he doesn't get half of my earnings. We never signed a prenuptial agreement by the way. want to add that my parents have created a trust fund account that contains my earnings from this new upcoming documentary which is around 96k after taxes which is solely controlled by my father under him and if anything should happen to them, my sister then becomes caretaker to the account ensuring that never gains access, however I've learned that even upon my release can not have full control of that account. They want to somewhat withhold it from me until such time prove that am responsible and my marriage is solid. This was planned without my knowledge by my father I didn't have any discussion about it they just took it upon themselves to do this for my own protection so needless to say was blindsided. Now making plans for my future book, am faced with the decision to allow my parents to be my negotiations for my book deal and then ultimately add the earnings to the trust account they are controlling, or to take the responsibility of signing documents for my book deal to where he is included in these negotiations taking the place of my parents and because am incarcerated need a Power of Attorney to make legal decisions for me when it comes to financial discussions, Both my parents AN have that power to do so. signs on these documents in my stead while i am incarcerated, it would only be to sign for me, my book earnings would not start rolling in until after my release to which the payments would go directly to me BUT if allow my parents to sign, then they would just have the payments made to them and add it to the trust account...yet, at their discretion. a huge risk to be included in this matter because this is not just a book, this will be my legacy. will reap royalties from its earnings for the rest of my life and if all to be included in this, we better be in this marriage for as long as we live because if our marriage fails is in fact entitled to half of every bit of that money. love my parents for trying to protect me in the long run but also am not a child or under a conservatorship. believe that have grown and matured beyond expectations and want to be trusted with independence to handle my own money while also investing into my marriage and want to have children, at some point we are going to have to all agree to let me create our life together even if it is a risk.	page 241

03/15/2023 12:48:13	Inbound	Book stuff! Hi! First of all, how are you? I'm already missing our weekly chats! I'm officially wrapped with the documentary and am now on another show that will eventually air on Oxygen. But find that I'm not feeling nearly as happy or fulfilled as this past year working on the doc. Sigh. I'm sorry to hear about this whole situation. For your parents to have set up restrictions on your money without discussing it with you first is really disrespectful, in my opinion. How frustrating. It doesn't sound like there's anything to be done about how the trust was set up at this point, so from what understand, you're trying to decide how to move forward with the book deal, right? Is there any way you can wait until you're out of prison to finalize a deal? That would eliminate so much of this issue, both the issue of whether to continue letting your parents be involved and how much to allow to be involved. Regardless, will be entitled to half of everything you earn now that you're married, so would you rather wait a few more months so that YOU can be the one to approve all the details and aspects? Also, waiting until you're released might actually work in your favor in terms of getting the best deal you can because publishers that don't want to approach you while you're incarcerated might feel encouraged to approach you once you're out and they can meet you, talk to you, etc. Just something to consider. Ultimately, as you know, only you can make these decisions (as much as your dad and j don't necessarily think you can!), and I do think it warrants a discussion with them about how inappropriate it was for them to make these kinds of decisions without consulting you. As a parent, completely understand where they're coming from in terms of wanting to protect you and do that they think is in your best interest, but you're an adult and it's not right for them to make these unilateral decisions about your life and your future without you. It just doesn't make sense. If they want you to continue to grow and learn, they need to start treating you with the same respect they would treat any other adult and including you in the decision-making process, including explaining things and walking you through things you might not understand right now. So while get their position, also get yours. I'm really sorry you're having to deal with all this. And I'm not sure I'm helping all that much, but I'm happy to continue talking through things with you if you find it helpful. How are you two feeling? Hope to talk soon!	page 514

He moved into our apartment and is still unpacking lol but even with all the boxes it looks so cozy and perfect! :-). Our next visit will be on our one year wedding anniversary in July and then of course in August is the long awaited show!!!! after that I'll only have 4 more months left in here. So we both are trying to just take it one milestone at a time. Unfortunately I can't hold back because the process has already begun for my book. I'm helping me with a lot of it and we already hired a woman to write the book proposal which will go out to publishers next month. My feeling is I should allow to sign the book contract instead of my parents because at least know he will be transparent with me and treat me like an adult and the checks would go directly to me in the end. can see that upsetting dad and but just don't want to put everything earned for projects I've done be placed in one account that my parents control. I'm sure no matter what it will work out it is just a little stressful finding the best option for me. Hope all is well, too miss our little chats. :-)	page 514

Now that am married I want to start allowing my husband to be included. This is my issue.. my father and want to make sure my book deal and any compensation for such projects is kept in their hands because they are not sure if #1 am responsible enough to handle my own money, and #2 they are still hesitant about allowing me to have joint marital money especially when it is a possible six figure book deal. My father wants to make sure that IF I and get a divorce at any point, he doesn't get half of my earnings. We never signed a prenuptial agreement by the way. want to add that my parents have created a trust fund account that contains my earnings from this new upcoming documentary which is around 96k after taxes which is solely controlled by my father and under him and if anything should happen to them, my sister then becomes caretaker to the account ensuring never gains access, however I've learned that even upon my release can not have full control of that account. They want to somewhat withhold it from me until such time prove that responsible and my marriage is solid. This was planned without my knowledge by my father and I didn't have any discussion about it they just took it upon themselves to do this for my own protection so needless to say was blindsided. Now making plans for my future book, am faced with the decision to allow my parents to be my negotiators for my book deal and then ultimately add the earnings to the trust account they are controlling, or also to take the responsibility of signing documents for my book deal to where he is included in these negotiations taking the place of my parents and because am incarcerated need a Power of Attorney to make legal decisions for me when it comes to financial discussions, Both my parents have that power to do so. signs on these documents in my stead while I am incarcerated, it would only be to sign for me, my book earnings I would not start rolling in until after my release to which the payments would go directly to me BUT if allow my parents to sign, then they would just have the payments made to them and add it to the trust account that can not control...yet, at their discretion. It is a huge risk to be included in this matter because this is not just a book, this will be my legacy. will reap royalties from its earnings for the rest of my life and if allow to be included in this, we better be in this marriage for as long as we live because if our marriage fails is in fact entitled to half of every bit of that money. love my parents for trying to protect me in the long run but also am not a child or under a conservatorship. believe that have grown and matured beyond expectations and want to be trusted with independence to handle my own money while also investing into my and want to have children, at some point we are going to have to all agree to let me create our life together even if it is a risk.	page 874

03/15/2023 01:54:06	Outbound	M I need some advice. this will be a long message but I want your opinion as my mother in law but also as a wise individual. I am currently writing my life story for what will be my autobiography book and the legal and financial discussions are being made with my agent and collaborators. Thus far my father has always kept negotiations for anything like documentaries and anything featuring my life story between him and my stepmom} Now that am married want to start to be included. However this is the issue and keep in mind this part might upset you. It isn't fair and here lies my frustration. My father and want to make sure my book deal and any compensation for such projects is kept in their hands because they are not sure if #1 am responsible enough to handle my own money, and #2 they are still hesitant about allowing me to have joint marital money especially when it is a possible six figure book deal. 03/15/2023 11:09:30	Inbound	book deal You are in a rock and a hard spot. know you want to sho' you love and trust him, but the marriage is new. Even though he has shown you he is willing to go the extra mile and be there for you despite straying a little, you haven't actually lived together yet. This is the rest of your life that you are talking about, and if you spend it together, the money will always be available to your family, not just you. You're worried about feelings, but if you love each other, he will not mind that your parents protect you. would tell you that you love him, you want children, you want the rest of your lives together, but you also want to feel secure in your financial future in case you start living together and realize that you're both mistaken in how you truly feel. If things were to sour, he would claim his share. It's human nature. You want to stress you never want that to happen. seems like a good man. think he will understand. This changes nothing between you. And it allows your parents to help you both learn how to be fiscally responsible before they hand control over to you. It will feel difficult to have this discussion with but he should understand. This is not about trust. You trust him. It's about a safety net for your future. And it will be his safety net too, as long as you are together. That's what it means. Not that you don't trust him... and not that you don't love him.	page 989

03/15/2023 22:24:54	Outbound	Hi read the book proposal to me and what found is...without trying to be insulting, that the overall framework of words was bare boned. It reminded me of listening to Forest Gump and made me cringe. It was your very basic wording. often use more intellectual words for example instead of saying "People said my mom poisoned my step grandma would have said "It was speculated that my mother had poisoned my step grandmother with RoundUp" You also use mom and actually rarely call my mother "mom", refer to her as my mother because now mom. Also there were consistent repetitive words and words that should have used commas where the repetitive ands were placed. The story read very factual however lacked emotion, texture, and emotion and to a degree intelligence. One thing everyone comments on is how articulate am with my words and that did not translate with the way this reads. will also relay more of my notes as well. NOTES #1 My mother did not work at the hospital after was born she took a job at a bar called PJs when was toddler age and later took odd jobs such as photo restoration on her computer. #2 It reads more then once that i had no participation in Mommy Dead and Dearest but did participate in the HBO documentary Mommy Dead and Dearest, however did not have financial compensation. and it was not a docuseries it was a single documentary. #3 In the beginning it read "My childhood was great, but then got sick" Then the next paragraph reads had x amount of surgical procedures at 11 months old." That is contradictory to the beginning paragraph. From birth my mother claimed was sick, however as a child i at least was allowed to be more social with my mother's side of the family and have some good memories as a child, would not say great though. and did not mutually break up, he left me devastatingly brokenhearted. want readers to feel the strength of the pain that felt. After all had gone through, thought had went through it to get to this person who would love me and he let me down just like everyone else in my life. jotted down other notes and sent it to of errors in grammar and proper English and pretty much the same notes. will give you my thoughts after the corrections have been made. will be 100% honest with you would prefer you to write only the proposal because just feel would like to see what another could offer to the manuscript. Thank you.	page 1006

Hi Gypsy! wrote you in quite a while and am sorry for that! thought about you randomly the other day as saw someone who looked very similar to you and thought to myself (well out loud actually to a very good friend) that looks like Gypsy! And they completely agreed with me. She was very nice. told her that you were also very nice and we had a few conversations back and forth about different things. She told me to tell you that you are 'iconic' lol really hope you had a good last year! Geez hadn't realized it had been so long since our last letters. Things have been super hectic around here with work and everything else. But you are sooo close to being free and living your best life! hope you all the best down in Louisiana. LOVE Louisiana! It's one state below me. hope you find a few good hobbies and enjoy the rest of your days. do hope to hear back from you on an update of your well being! Also, not sure if you know what tiktok is but it's like different clips that people make and so on like that. One came across about an article of you a while back and a girl on there claiming to be a cousin of yours just talking up a storm. was like BYE, get outta here being so rude. But you would be so surprised at the support and the defense system you have out here! It's crazy. Well, I do hope you remember me and our letters a while back!! Always.	page 732

03/17/2023 15:57:35	Inbound	podcast Mrs GypsR, Now social media know somewhat. I can turn a bass amp to 11. But a podcast, that's something I'd take fishing with me, so thought :) Really tho, there are so many and my oldest boy, luvs and listens to podcasts any chance he can. To me, it's radio with a more human touch. You could have an audience of 5 or an audience of 5000+. My daughter's friend is an influencer, don't know really what that is but she gets paid money for it but she a bad influencer. mean bad in a naughty way smh I've know her since she was a kid and was like April, please don't influence me that way lol It's kinda shocking what the younger generation does now for entertainment!! Back in my day <--and I'm really not that old LoLL) anyway we'd have to hide our g-strings, that was so hush-hush; now these days, that's all you need to go up to the Walmart! No it's not that bad yet, I'm just in a playing mood today. got things to do out in the backyard and it won't stop raining, so I'm going play in the rain! After write to you of course-- So, doing a podcast. really don't know much at all about the entertainment biz!~ think it would be based on money first and foremost of course. Then it would be based on how much privacy you would want-- but as you said, with the interest in your life story, somebody is gonna take it and run with it. So would be tempted to put myself out there ahead of the game and control the narrative. Own it and make it yours, well, cause it is!! Tough decision. Yes: would have to be your most considered. As for the significant other, some prefer a team effort and some prefer to walk in the shadows. I've always thought that you are very articulate, intelligent and just a charm that inspires!! You'd be a great speaker for MBP and also for all injured, neglected and abused children. People would have an appreciation for being real and not something you read in a book or got a college degree to tell others how and what and when to feel which they've never felt before!!! So I'm onboard with that. On the other side, humans (keyboard warriors etc) are not kind. You got to wear armor of steel to protect your feelings and heart. That's a difficult thing, getting PR, an attorney, a business manager and accountant 'cause everyone will want to get a slice of the money pie and who can you trust. know this is kinda rambling cause you got months to think about it all... just one thing ask pretty please, don't become a human commodity; never lose yourself or your vision of life in the future that you've dreamed of. To me, you still have that child-like innocence wide-eyed and inquisitive ready to journey the world standing strong and making it yours! That in itself would be a good book!! Look at me being all big sista and stuff lol! As I've said before, it's adulting and that means serious decisions and will always support you, got ya six, got ya back, will be at your side but would never get in your way~~~ with love and care!!	page 241

Regarding the questions you ask, just have a few thoughts. The first thing think is that you should NOT share your income with anyone. Or let anyone other than those you will be with you for the rest of your life manage your money. I think your father is the very best when it comes to giving you advice - or handle/watching over your money. would be sceptical when it comes to sharing my money/income with someone i just married. You don't know him the outside". Im not beeing negative, but i would be VERY carefil. A good advice from me? Be sceptical. Unfortunately, most people will try to profit from you. Believe me, know. 03/21/2023 15:57:46	Outbound	Deai and My name is GypsyRose Blanchard-Anderson, am 31 years old. My life story was featured in the 2019 HuLu series The Act, and am currently near the end of my prison sentence for the 2015 murder of my mother which gained national attention. have spent the last 8 years in prison and have had a very traumatic upbringing at the hands of my mother, which left me with very little healthy relationship skills and a lot of emotional baggage that carry into my relationships. Last year got married while still incarcerated. My husband and met in 2020 during the covid pandemic after he learned of my story and decided to reach out to send his emotional support. Through many phone conversations and visits (contact visitation) we became friends and then eventually started a relationship. My husband is 36 years old and works as a special education teacher. He has absolutely no criminal history, and is the most pure tender hearted soul have ever known. He has been able to handle the emotional baggage that have carried with me for so long and we are navigating how to manage and heal my trauma through therapy. Both his and my family are supportive of our marriage, however many have told us that they still have concerns about how well do we truly know one another. My family in particular questions how well am going to adjust to living with him because we have never spent time together outside of a prison visitation room and have never lived with a man in general. My husband and both feel that though we have not lived together, the foundation of our relationship has always been our amazing emotional connection and ability to problem solve in a healthy way. We both have a growth mindset and feel we have achieved the hardest part which is establishing that strong emotional connection and communication skills We both feel that being able to have a constant physical bond once am released will only improve our connection. Now with my release date coming up, What advice would you give for my unique situation that can help my husband and keep our expectations of each other positive and help us grow even stronger in our marriage going forward? Also, what advice would be would you give for someone with my background of trauma coming out of prison into the real world? My husband and are long time listeners and of y'all podcast and have even made it part of our routine to listen to one episode a week and share our thoughts with each other and open a conversation dialogue. Any thoughts have would be appreciated. Thank you.	page 950

Think of it as a door what we put out is our material, but we can not be so blind to think the only input is financial. We would be opening ourselves up to everything. Public scrutiny, online harassment, possible jealousy from others, male and female romantic attention or infidelity, security concerns. All lam saying is it is a door, what comes out, unwanted things can come in. It is best to go into it with full understanding that this makes you a public figure. Now you and are good people and feel the feedback will be positive but we are going to have haters an knipping at our heels the whole time. What matters is majority rules. If the majority loves us then we can handle a few ahol comments here and there. wanted to write this email because you need to look passed the financial aspect and see what the lifestyle is like. Now will day filming 10 episodes would not last forever and it would be a wrap up to doing more projects because after the curiosity of watching me live life fades we will be left alone to live in peace.	page 950

During my own review, dissected the proposal to understand why she had such a negative reaction. First, it mainly was due to the lack of her own voice missing in the proposal. While the writing is factual it lacks her tone and reduces her vocabulary to an elementary grade level. We assume the lack of voice comes from her interviews not being directly pulled from and injected into the writing. Second to voice, there aren't any emotional moments we enter into through the writing. There is a play-by-play of timeline events. Again factual, just not taking the opportunity to have us experience a moment in time that Gypsy lived through, so we know what she felt. The sample chapter is where this really could have shined, for example, there is a memory Gypsy has of sleeping over at her cousin's home as a child and she is jumping on the bed when her aunt walks in. Immediately, she drops to the bed in tremendous fear and freezes knowing she was caught using her legs. Now being caught, hell will be paid when her mother discovers her lapse in the act. There are many memories Gypsy has of the transition of being healthy while her mother starts to train her to be sick that could be used for the sample chapter. Instead it opens with facts lined up of her date of birth and nickname--nothing an editor couldn't sample chapter is a chance to show that this book truly has never-before-heard stories that only she could tell. Third, and the least of the issues, the Overview isn't in first person. Here is an opportunity to address the fact that while there are many documentaries and even a tv scripted series, none of them tell her true story. Her story has been adapted and stolen. Something along the lines of, "While millions of people watched The Act, sat in my prison cell with no access to Hulu. To this day, haven't been able to watch the series...People were watching a show starring me! had no involvement ...People now are thinking they know me but they don't know point 1, point 2, point This could also be an open letter to the editor stating what people don't know or the mistruths people have of her. Now having addressed all the concerns, we feel it needs a complete rewrite to add her voice and to write a sample chapter that takes us into a moment of her life. can send all of our notes of changes but at this point Gypsy has lost faith. propose we all cut our losses and end the agreement here. 04/02/2023 01:52:12	Inbound	Hey How are you? I'm a fan watched the act several times on tv. You seem like an incredible person! heard that you're going to get out in a few years. just wanted to say hi and tell you that you are cared for. Sorry for what you have been through! heard you got married I'm so happy for you! Hope you are good! Me and my fiancé found "The act" on Hulu. Well it was recommended by my grandma so we watched the first 20 minutes of it and then we just had to keep watching. At first the relationship between your mom and you was a relationship anyone would want but then getting into the show we believe how she did all that to you. Since we watched all the Hulu series we have been following your story. We watched "dead and dearest" on Hulu and "Gypsies revenge" Me since am a very curious person have some questions if you can answer them.. did your teeth really get pulled every single one or did Hulu make that part up? Did you have any contact at the time with your father for example like on ur fake account? Did you think your dad would take ur moms side? why didn't you just run away one night When you found out you was 18 or old enough to be on your own? your neighbor friend talk to you still? The one you wanted to be like. not being mean if am I'm sorry. Do you regret anything that happen or do you see good in it all now and that ur at peace? when you have kids what do you want to name them? + do you still talk? Are you guys friends? kind of wedding do you want? really hope you can answer all my questions. All these have been running through my head and would love to have some of my crazy answers answered by the only Gypsy instead reading what the media says. know you get a lot of mail probably but hope get a reply back from you! Thanks This is Gypsy Blanchard, am writing to all who has sent me emails of encouragement and support to please know that DO very much appreciate the kindness of your time to write me. don't always have the time to respond as have a full schedule with work and school as well as other beneficial classes that require a lot of my full attention. 04/03/2023 18:01:09	Inbound	your tattoo and more... hey again! i forgot about the unalome tattoo idea - you mentioned that in one of our conversations. very cool! i didn't know about you letting the writer go - if she wasn't a good fit, better you did it sooner rather than later. going to write it, or will you guys get someone to help? i remember my dad teaching me and my sisters to drive when we were really young - my younger sister almost drove us i'm so glad you have a lot of people who want to teach you to drive, cook, etc. all off a cliff - ha! funny, not funny. sounds like you'll have a really wonderful support team. that's great you will have a therapist to see together. that's important. not that you asked for my two cents, but i would also recommend you keep - or find - your own therapist. it'll be important for you to have someone that can be your advocate and your safe place. someone to listen just to you and your issues... at least for a while. you'll have a lot on your plate when you first get out and lots of feelings to deal with and talk through.	page 1023

04/05/2023 22:48:04	Outbound	was wondering when would get an email lol hear where you are coming from and understand. just want you to has NEVER asked me for money. What had happened was was on a call and was telling her how wish that could contribute something to our new place. She then talked to mom and told her of an idea and that was to a few hundred a month until get out as joint money to make me feel included. When I told him about it he didn't know how to react to that. I think there was a misunderstanding or an assumption rather that while am still in here that y'all would continue to add money to my account. The day we got married, had told me that he wanted to start putting money on my account, however mom and I had a conversation shortly after getting married that it would stay the same, and relayed that to I feel had it been expected of him to provide EVERYTHING for me including my monthly money without any input from me, it should have been addressed in a very clear manner and it kinda was but that was between me and mom and not you and him. This is a very unique situation and know you are trying to do what is best. am not arguing, am only speaking my thoughts to the fact don't want you to think any less of him that he hasn't been the one to send me $200 a month to keep up my comfortable lifestyle in here. I've always had the things needed and wanted in here. The food at chow hall is so gross, so buy food and make meals from what purchase weekly at canteen understands this so if ever need extra he does add money on per my request. Whatever we make from future episodes or podcasts will be of great help to the both of us in getting a kick start. I'm looking to get a job ASAP and start bringing in something ya know. Just know understands all of this and doesn't want to worry which is why my big mouth is the one to say "Hey let's talk about the serious shit" lol I think a year is fair. :-)	page 203

04/07/2023 01:48:33	Outbound	I think we have a marital issue... I try to put effort into connecting with you on a sexual level and we just have different languages of what chemistry looks like. You think saying something vulgar is hot. have more of an emotional side to it so think of desire as a dance, one takes a step creating closeness and the other follows suit, each move perfectly in line with your partner. I can't tell you how awkward I felt tonight asking you to make me feel sexy and at first you said really sweet loving things..but then you made jokes about shaking my ass...And what happened, became turned off like immediately and didn't want to even talk about it anymore. It isn't that don't have a sense of humor, it is that when you are trying to create a tone for serious sexual chemistry..humor should be left outside the door. It makes me lose faith in a good sex life in this marriage, which in turn makes me lose faith in this marriage as a whole. I love you and always will but without a good sex life we are just good friends who are married. That is just food for thought.	page 951

04/08/2023 18:23:31	Outbound	Hi Dad, called mom today and she and talked about your email and talk with her too. think we had a good talk. Mom fill you in on what all was said. I just wanted to say thank you for everything you do for me. know it couldn't have been easy going through this journey with me, especially with all the cameras along the way. often pray that going forward my past doesn't have a negative impact on the ones love. The road hasn't been easy for me either, for the last eight years I've had to watch family live and grow from afar, and for three of those eight has been the one who turn to when the walls close in. This may sound harsh in a way, but say it to make a point. YOU may be the one to financially care for me in here all these years but it is who provides the main source of emotional care for me for the last few years and that is something money can not buy and with your work schedule you can not always provide. In my opinion you both are working together as a unit whether you realize that or not. Therefore you both are sharing equal amounts of responsibility for me. You are my father and he is my husband, and in this situation you both are doing right by me. Sometimes perspective is everything.	page 203
04/09/2023 04:42:57	Inbound	Easter 2023 (263 days woohoo) Yes another poem inspired by you— Thoughts from me and hello Love to ya from us !! Can it be, can it be your last Easter incarcerated captivity. Puffed peep marshmallows and deviled eggs all waiting for you Chickadee! Miles and smiles of bunny trails next year you're free to roam. Chocolate messes of melted rabbits in straw baskets that's home sweet home. Looking back on all those locked up years. The future's coming with big brown eyes and rabbit ears. Imagining footsteps in the sand, dancing on the beach. Gotta get your hair and makeup did, lectures to teach. In the creation of time, your life was not the norm. Always you will be out the cocoon, this butterfly will not conform. What was given to you was tragic but now is yet a gift. Children of despair, you've given hope and a voice to life. Now as this new beginning is coming pretty fast. All your hopes and dreams coming true and meant to last. Easter is a rejuvenation and a risen spiritual new birth . Your existence historical and the myth scorched here on earth. So see the sun rise as the new day approaches on the horizon. Wishes of all that is good next year and a future that's surprising —	page 241

04/10/2023 01:57:52	Outbound	So the money talks with my parents have been ok. I think it is pretty clear they will see fit to hand over power of my trust fund money after a year and I living together which is fine with us. My dad emailed me last Friday after a few beers and threw it in my face that in his should be providing me with all the money need without any help. Which that comment was referring to the monthly money for my canteen that my dad puts onto my account while am still in here. The day after the wedding said he wanted to start assuming the responsibility to send me money on a monthly, but and talked and she said they would continue to take care of me in here so we let it be. Now my dad gets tipsy and makes his opinion about that topic known. I feel, had it been expected to be treated like it is the 14th century and it is solely on a husband to be the only provider it should have been discussed the day we got married. Keep in mind is already paying $1,400 month rent, $300 a month for our phone calls, $200 for his prescription blood pressure and anti depression meds, and then he has electric bill, cable bill, the cost of food and so on and so forth, on a teachers salary! which isn't a whole hell of a lot. In this day and age a wife pulls her weight, which isn't possible for me right this second, but the point is still being treated as if he is an outsider in some aspects seemed to agree to your idea for them to a few hundred for martial money however a new month came and my father deposited money into my canteen account and did not send anything Now it pride won't allow that anyway after this email from my dad. would feel the size of a grain of rice If had to to send me what am used to my parents sending me which is $200 a month knowing he would sell his kidney to get it for me. Meanwhile my father makes excellent money and can afford to refurbish their bedroom and bathroom AGAIN for the 2nd time in two years and hord my documentary money for a rainy day IF my marriage should fail it is untouched or until a year after my release but until has to have all these expectations that dad set on him. They are so damn has access to a penny of my trust fund money that they unknowingly come off as distant and judgmental because their eyes on focused on the money and unfortunately they don't for what he provides for me which is a home, love, safety, and a new beginning really does go unappreciated by them. mother welcomes me into their family and has done everything she can to make our lives see the contrast in ho' easier with my transition out of prison and into my life wit! and my parents are using a hands off approach which leads me to feel they are not as supportive of this marriage as they claim. I am a VERY emotional being and my emotions lay at the surface at all times is the same as me, so our strength has always come from our emotional bond. I think you and still have some more bonding to do in time but I'm glad he has a new father figure in his life he can look to for guidance. I'm sure this all feels like a lot sometimes. Money can be/is such a huge issue for a lot of people and families, and can be a really hard topic to talk about ESPECIALLY with people we love. Your situation is particularly complex and navigating that, especially with a new husband, is going to be difficult for everyone. I am sorry your dad wrote to you after a few beers and you felt like he threw a bunch of his opinions in your face. Ugh. That must have felt really shitty. remember having conversations with my dad about money when he was alive and it brought me to tears many times. loved my dad AND he could be a real jackass ;) I'm glad you talked to about things, do you feel like you could talk to your dad about his email and how you felt about it? I'm sure it's hurtful to you that his efforts - financially and otherwise - go unrecognized and unappreciated by your parents. can imagine they are doing their best to try and protect you, and, at the same time, that must be really hard. Just like you your parents are trying to navigate this new situation. Things are bound to get messy and they are going to screw up and hurt your feelings, and/ too. Don't let your pride - o - get in the way of asking for help when you need it in the future. You're going to need it, and can't imagine they aren't going to want to give it when/however they can. Keep talking and writing about all this stuff, Gypsy, it's brave and courageous and it'll help you process your feelings and hurts around all this stuff. Thanks again for sharing with me...hope to talk soon.	page 1022

Also, think it's so insightful of you to be able to break down how your dad each bring something different to the table. can only imagine how frustrating it must be to have such limited control of your finances while being locked up. The good news is it's just a few more months before you're able to get out, which will make all those conversations so much easier. You had mentioned something about not being able to have full access to the trust even once the POA runs out - why is that? Can it be changed? How's the book thing going? Did you figure out the money situation as it pertains to that? Money is important and has a lot of power, but my one piece of (unsolicited!) advice is, don't let money come between you and your family. Speak your truth and express yourself clearly and plainly, but always remember that family support and love are crucial. As long as you have that, everything else can be worked out through honest conversations, which you're having anyway. hope the recent situation with your dad givin: money is encouraging for you that your dad is a reasonable person and that he is trying to have your best interest at heart. There's no doubt he loves you very much and is (finally) trying to do right by you, which is more than a lot of people can say for their dads. If you to do something by a specific time, start asking and/or telling him a few days in advance. Since he was a little wani boy, he has never been spontaneous. My daddy would have to give him a 2 day notice about going to get a haircut. We have always laughed about that. 04/16/2023 06:40:52	Inbound	Saturday phone call LOVED talking to you Saturday. know it was a long phone call and just want you to know how much appreciate you giving me almost 3 hours with a phone call. That means so much to me and wanted to make sure you know that. You are such a sweet spirit in my life. Thank you for sharing so much with me. know it has to be hard for you to trust people. Just know that feel privileged just knowing that you trust me enough to tell me the things you do. know I'm not a therapist but during college and nursing school, did take psych and sociology courses so maybe help you during our talks. know for me, our talks are such a good way to talk things out. You are a great listener and just want you to know that your trust in me is nothing will never take for granted. often think about our phone calls and all that was said between us. hope the calls help you as much as they help me. went to work early this morning. woke up at 3:30 AM from a nightmare and Sunday morning at 5:00 AM. couldn't go back to sleep. can't wait for the day or middle of the night when I can just pick up the phone and call you. I'm going to put $20.00 on your books to cover that phone call. know that it costs you money to call me and just want you to be compensated for Saturday's long call. could have AND would have talked longer LOL. You are so easy to talk to. Have you ever thought about a degree in sociology or psychology? know you and talked about you getting therapy before and after you get home. After our talks, I am more and more convinced that once you deal with you, you could be an excellent therapist or counselor. You have the patience to listen to others and that is a big part of being a therapist. know that when we talked you were saying you want someone to help give you guidance, that is why I suggested a "Life Coach". Research what a life coach does and maybe you will understand why I suggested a life coach. still believe that you need a therapist or counselor too. Gypsy, remember getting help from a therapist, counselor and life coach is not a sign of weakness. It is a sign of maturity. It shows that you are smart enough and strong enough to realize that help like that is a good thing and will only make you stronger in your mind and spirit. It's similar to getting a private physical therapist to help you exercise, just one on one. I think back to some of our first phone calls and our calls now. You have truly grown into a thoughtful, insightful and beautiful young woman. Psychologists say that when a person experiences trauma, their mental age stops at the age of the trauma. As say that, want you to know that a person can push past that and begin growing mentally again. It takes time and patience but it can happen. can hear the maturity happening and I can see it by your actions. You have many people that love you but there are also people, that are just waiting to see you fail at life. Please know that your small circle of loved ones will always be here for you. There are more people that want to succeed at life than fools that don't want that for you. Remember that. Ok, enough seriousness... and are trying to work out a weekend that we can come visit. and both need a good, strong hug from you. We also need to think about having you a shower of some sort when you get home, similar to a bridal shower. We could do one for lingerie and a shower for things to decorate your home. You could register at stores and people can get you gifts to decorate the apartment. Doesn't that sound like fun? and got married in November and someone gave me a "First Christmas together" shower. got pretty decorations for a Christmas tree and the house. It's just something to think about. I'm running out of space so, love you and continue to pray for you. Call again soon. Love,	page 587

This guy is a fame seeker who has been making up shit for attention. emailed me tonight and he let me know that he saw online that a guy who guess was on a season of The Bachelor and was eliminated week one, was making comments 14 hours ago saying he is talking to me and we are like a romantic thing and that he is going to be visiting me soon. I'm like NO not at all. Then not 20 minutes after me got off the phone, this guy is now a contact in my tablet. So rushed to the phone again and called created a Instagram account and sent him a little message that as you can imagine wasn't pretty and reported his comment for false information....And sent this guy an email that basically says people like him disgust me. Crazy people!	page 587

04/19/2023 13:47:24	Outbound	He It is nice to be able to email you. so excited for you and visit. sure it will be great. remember the first time in person he was so nervous, wasn't, went into it thinking would friend zone him like had been before we met and was wrong. walked in and hugged him then sat down and immediately was feeling the butterflies. lam is dating someone in the real world meaning outside of prison. In my opinion having someone out in the world means something real, unlike these girls who have "prison girlfriend hook ups". All that is is about canteen and sex. who's fuck'n who and then as soon as one leaves prison on to the next is how it is. So having a relationship based on a deep connection is one worth having. Also some advice is in a hard situation. It is best to have a positive mindset however the justice system in Missouri sucks! our governor is against prisoner reform and he has not been merciful towards giving inmates pardons. Though has not had a denial letter rejecting her plea for clemency, many of our old timer inmates have and there is no way to know if or when she will hear about the status of hers. I say all this because am a realist. look at things for what it is and hope for the best outcome. My best advice is go into this relationship with understanding tha has another parole hearing 4 years from now and the board can and might give her another 5 year set back and keep doing that to her. If that happens, can you handle that? Can you be strong for her and you? know you are young and right now everything seems possible because of how happy you are to have her in your life, but if she is forced to stay in prison for another 10+ years, how do you plan on coping and adjusting with how the life you want with her might not look like how y'all are planning it right now? hope and pray everyday that she will walk out of here in 4 years, will be advocating for it when I get out in December will be one of her biggest supporters. All want is for you to handle this relationship with maturity, and part of doing that is looking beyond your feelings of the now while at the same time living in the now. Meaning take one day at a time. have been in a few relationships while locked up. my ex fianc sold me a dream of us having a husky dog named Balto, a daughter named Aurora and us having the perfect life together. Two years into our relationship he dipped out saying my time was too long to wait and he couldn't handle having a relationship with someone in prison. in the beginning would have never thought he would have done that to me. Now am married to a man who would wait 100 years for me and walk through hell with me. Its all about dedication, devotion, love, understanding AND communication. So please take things slow, grow together, have fun together but keep things realistic. has never seemed happier then I've seen her since y'all started talking. :-) wish y'all nothing but happiness and a good healthy connection.	page 704

04/20/2023 20:47:16	Outbound	Hi would like you to please relay to legal/category 6/A and E, and to whom that may concern. First, would like to remind category 6 that he never signed the revised materials release that was sent to him late last year, he only ever signed the first one agreeing to provide material for this six episodes. He has screenshots of yours and his conversation and his received but not sent docu-sign to confirm. Also, if the network (interested parties) has intentions and should green light and invoke the derivative project then legal is to contact my lawyer for all negotiations pertaining to contracts for me and such discussions about contractual obligations are to be directed to my lawyer and not directed to my parents or myself directly. As of March 13th 2023, have appointed my husband as an additional Power of Attorney for legal and financial to assume responsibility for signing documents on my behalf for the derivative project instead of my parents, therefore my lawyer is to going forward contact my husband for these discussions. and are happy to fulfill our obligations, however no will produce additional material for future episodes UNLESS discussed by and through our lawyer, and all contractual agreements are fully understood by all parties. Thank you for your time. Gypsy-Rose Anderson.	page 1021

04/21/2023 13:48:28	Outbound	Hey! Happy Friday. :-) hope you are having a good weekend so far. had tried calling because sent you that long email for legal, And wanted to explain further. don't know what all is being discussed between the networks, but like you, wondering if they want to make more episodes and if they do then like we spoke about earlier this week, that is something that needs to be worked out as soon as possible. am obviously not a lawyer and get nervous when it comes to the legal workings of all this so that is why I'm like "Talk to my lawyer" over and over again. might sound repetitive but I'm trying to point out that just the person who shows up to be filmed ya know. lol :-) Have you heard anything about a follow up season yet?... hope my email was not too aggressive or forward towards legal. only am stating those important discussions are to be had between their legal and mine. Does that make sense?	page 1021

04/22/2023 01:01:21	Outbound	Hi Dad, lam chillaxing in bed listening to these podcasts and think you and mom would like em too. The first one is called Focus on Marriage. it is religious based and the second one is called Anatomy of Us/ Anatomy of Marriage. love both of these because each brings a different topic to the table. hope things are going well at work. started another class this one is called "Decision Making" it is more activity based so we do little silly activities in the hopes we learn to make good decisions. can always use more teaching on that. lol So some doushebag on Instagram named Jos! was trying to spread lies and say me and him was talking on some romantic type shit. Apparently he is some fame seeking assbat who was on like one season of the Bachelorette. sent him a message and basically told him off and did the same when the guy added himself to my email contact list. Mom got a text from one of her friends letting her know about this crazy person. Luckily was already warned about him before he even tried to email me. And the guy is still making up shit to get attention even after Me. Mom and j all told him to leave my name out of his mouth. He is just somebody who wants fame. He also has tried to hit up other women who are kinda famous. There are some seriously disturbed people in this world. Other than that I've been good. Mom needs to make a new Securus account she keeps forgetting. :-p Her, GG, and j probably will all wanna come up to see me in August which will be good will come up for our one year anniversary in July. 05/02/2023 11:46:07	Inbound	Thank you!!! I just opened your email and had to call my husband and shrieked into the phone when he answered said Gypsy answered my questions lol. He knows how much love youtube and making videos, however it is hard when people only look for the shock factor and not the truth of things. Just like all of the rumors of you and your husband being split up. If people would only ask OR not post things until they knew for sure. You will fight, have disagreements but it is how you learn to come together wit! and work thru things that really Thank you for sharing what you did with me. Especially the advice to anyone who is being abused right now! We don't have to sit in the negative of what happened we can focus on the good of what can come of it. We cant change our past but we can take our experiences and use it for good. have no doubt that you will be an EXCELLENT mommy! am so happy that you will get that chance very soon! will admit that think your sentence was unfair, it should never have been as long as it was and have actually argued online with people about that. 05/04/2023 11:40:46	Inbound	Response :)) Good morning :) Thank you for letting me know that can use your original response to my questions in a video. would never do anything malicious or manipulative that would hurt you or your family. I am sure you have heard this before but time will prove that am sincere. wanted to share something with you that have told nobody except my dad, my husband and therapist. My mom kept me from my father and it wasn't until was 14 that met him and eventually moved in with him. When was younger she would place hot compresses on me (as a small child) and tell him was sick. didn't have a relationship with him and he died Nov. 17 2021 from covid and we never really had a "normal" relationship due to what my mom did. We tried but the gap made it feel strange. miss him terribly though! My mom is still here and struggle because she's older and needs help and yet resent her. Its hard. love her but don't like her. have chosen to help her when she asks because don't want to live with guilt after she passes away. Weird huh?? Ok so was looking at the pages people have made on Facebook and the stuff they are saying about you just yikes!! Please don't let people get in the way of your life and your plans. Don't let ANYONE take anymore of your life away from you! Gossip, drama, all of it can distract from happiness. Maybe can create a page and as an admin and put you on as admin when you are released. This way you control what is said, who can be a part of the page etc. Justa thought! Let me know what you think. Lol tell you about my little yt channel? Its sad © do try though and that makes it even sadder lol.... Thats why was so excited when you wrote me back because this is the most exciting thing to have happened to my channel! do want to be careful and not do anything wrong and gain your trust. do hope one day to do a phone interview before any other youtuber HOWEVER that isn't the only reason. do think you are a good person and you understand things that other people don't. That is hard to find. With that said am sure you are bombarded with messages so although love communicating PLEASE tell me to stop if you don't want to correspond. will keep writing as long as you want to so lemme know :) We FINALLY got in Michigan today!! need some vitamin d something fierce lol. We are also installing solar panels in a few weeks and am so excited about that! am hoping that we don't have to take trees down but think we do sadly. Anyway, no worries about me telling anyone anything confidential. wouldn't do that. only want the very best things for you! If can help in any way will do that because you deserve it@	page 256

05/04/2023 20:31:36	Outbound	My favorite color is pink AND purple. :-)) My favorite animal is cats. have not been able to watch The Act, didn't have any say on how they made the show or even if what they showed as events of my life to be fully accurate. But, can tell you a little secret that not suppose to tell everyone just yet because of contracts and legal agreements but I'm going to tell you because I'm sure you can keep this between you and your family. So have a new documentary coming out on Lifetime Network it is called The Prison Confessions of Gypsy Blanchard. It is a 6 episode series that airs on August 5th, 6th and 7th as a 3 night special. It has interviews from my family, me, my and and other friends and even some of my old doctors. have not told many people outside of my family because the network wants to air the trailer sometime next month or in July. have to warn you, when you watch it, talk about some pretty deep stuff. I've done things in my past I'm not proud of but I have grown to learn better from my mistakes. hope when you watch it you understand more about how used to think and how have developed new and better ways of coping with my trauma. "The Act" was a Hollywood version of my life, the real thing was harder to grasp the emotional battle going on inside of me. think you will enjoy watching this new documentary. It even shows my wedding day or what they could film of it anyway. got married in here but plan to have a re-do wedding when I'm home. :-)) Do you have questions for me?	page 1070
05/05/2023 05:40:24	Inbound	Friday Hi to you Gypsy! How are things going these days?? I've still been thinking about you and your husband and your Dad and how is the situation going? Did all come to a resolution? I've still been thinking about that situation and there truly is not a good way around it except for you to get on the outside and take charge of business. Ill be so happy for you when you don't have your life micromanaged! As for now, know things have to be done while your story is hot off the presses and coincides with your upcoming release. wish you much prosperity in that. The only solution that can think of, which don't have a good answer, would be um, um i and you would want to get unmarried, sign your financial statements, then remarry in a beautiful ceremony on the outside. Then with a pre- nuptial, that would maybe be a compromise all would agree on. really don't know a good way. It's a delicate situation. understand your Dad and being so cautious and caring; and the trust and confident behalf. That's almost a go with your heart decision on who you trust and believe in the most. Just curious, is there a business manager or financial adviser that could intervene for your best interests? Much support and best wishes for the best outcome and much support and best wishes for the bestseller!!)) In the meantime, I've been keeping it simple and hopefully, happily distracting lol! Did you get my Easter poem? Everyone feel close to get a poem for Easter lol! been rhyming words and writing poems for birthdays, holidays, graduations etc. I've been writing a lot.. my youngest son said if got a flat tire, I'd probably write a poem about it ha! told him no but be expecting one for the 4th of July! can't wait for your 'memoir'! You are very articulate and very expressive and get your point across intelligently with compassion. Do you enjoy writing? enjoy it for the therapeutic effects. You should try painting and sketching next... have a feeling you're very creative! Well I know this isn't much sound advice, but I hope it helped otherwise in other ways. Love in Louisiana (ps- sometimes forget about your fame and known world wide~ think of you as my friend Gypsy darling and loved like fam and excited to see you) Have a Fantastic Weekend!!	page 240

05/05/2023 18:25:14	Inbound	thinking about you... hey lady! i was just listening to part of a new podcast hosted by julia louis-dreyfus (do you know her? she's a hilarious actress) called wiser than me (horrible grammar - ha!) on which she interviews woman older who are presumably wiser than she is. there are just a few eps so far - i'm liking it and finding little nuggets to take away from each ep. i've listened to. i thought of you as i was listening to the latest ep. with a singer named darlene love. apparently she has three sons and at least one of them - and it sounds like probably more - spent some years in prison. they are all out now and when julia asked her if they are doing well, she indicated they were. she said, "they didn't let prison get inside of them" - which i thought was a really interesting concept. i started thinking there are probably a lot of people - not by any fault of their own - who let prison get inside them. and then i thought, it doesn't seem like gypsy is one of those people. you seem so resilient and positive, overall, and striving for growth and be more self-evolved. but i wonder, are there parts of prison that have seeped into you? this probably sounds like a bit of an odd question, it just got me thinking... i'm off to Cancun tomorrow to meet a friend who just went through a divorce. i'm just there for a couple of days (which will be enough) and back on tuesday. i'll be around the rest of the week and would love to catch up. happy friday - cinco de mayo - whoop, whoop - and hope you have a relaxing weekend. cd	page 1023

Its unfortunate that you and your friend weren't able to talk things out. Maybe when you get out you and she can sit down and talk? I think you misunderstood about what was asking about the mail was meaning to ask are you able to check your email at certain times or can you at anytime? I'm not sure how that works. I am working on the video FINALLY!! I started to and then my younger sister was having problems with the guy she is dating. She and have never been close so when she came to me felt had to be there. Our dad died in 2021 and she is still a mess about it, but she is getting better and stronger. Dad really sheltered and babied her and used to resent her for it but see her different now. She's sort of lost and its sad. She's trying though © really want to open a Facebook page and full control over it as well. If he doesn't like how it is or how its run he can boot me out or shut it down. This way you can have your own input and we can get rid of rumors and focus on the positives of your life! There is one person in the other group who claims to talk to you all the time. have never spoke to her just read her comments she sends to people. Its so hard to stay quiet in that group when hateful things are said. have asked the admin to block those people that are just plain mean. Do you have any career path plans when you go home? Gypsy, think you would do so amazing working with children that were abused. You would understand in a way most people couldn't and you are little so you wouldn't be intimidating to kids. also think you would just be a good mommy and wife and just take in the life that was taken from you! support you in whatever you decide to do®& Just please be careful of people that start coming around after the movie or when you are released and NEVER give anyone money! If anyone asks just say no lol... Seriously though- some people are just ruthless and simply care about nobody but themselves. unfortunately can be very naive until its to late. My 16 year old is always telling me that am to trusting and agree. dont think ever want to be so closed off to people that am isolated but am learning that happy medium with her help lol..her name i) and she is the coolest kid ever & & She wants to meet you someday, and so do i. thanks for not laughing at my youtube © think he was being polite if he said it wasn't pathetic, because it sort Tell of is need to commit and give it some attention if I'm going to do it. I attached a pic Om driving because she just got her permit! Please pray for just want you to get a look into me, my life and what am about. Ok I'm about out of room to type so will end this. Message me back soon ok! seriously like talking to you and learning what you are really about and not what the media has made up!	page 257

05/10/2023 13:29:22	Inbound	checking-in... hey gypsy! great to hear from you. i saw that i missed a call from you yesterday - i was in mexico for a few days (fun!) and didn't get back until pretty late last night. so vegas - you must go there at least once in your life. i think people either love it or hate it ... but either way, it's an experience. i can take it in small doses - just a night or two - and i don't need to go very often. but it's fun and there is a would have a blast! lot to do besides gambling. lots of shows, concerts, nightlife, pool life...etc. i think you and there's also some beautiful hiking outside of vegas (which i love). happy to tell you what i can if you have other questions. the writer's strike doesn't really impact our side of the business - meaning most of the people in the non-fiction tv world are not in a union, like the scripted and movie people are. so we are good. our team has wrapped and most people have moved on to other shows with different companies. we are not having weekly calls with the network anymore. i'm sure as airdates get closer, they'll be in touch to keep us posted on when they'll start airing the trailer, etc. i will obviously keep you updated as i hear stuff. i've been enjoying a few weeks off and hope to move onto another project here soon. i've had a couple of interviews and am waiting to hear what's what... hope all is going okay with you. will you talk t on sunday for mother's day? what kind of day is that for you? meaning is it hard or sad or anything like that? talk soon... o know of that actress. To answer your question think have in the past have let prison influence me and when found that acting like everyone else wasn't for me then slipped back into being who am. thouaht it "cool" to act like the clickv airts.	page 1023

05/11/2023 22:33:47	Outbound	Soooo know you're in the dog house. I told her y'all need to define boundaries of what is ok and not ok. Mix signals can be very confusing is complicated. She tries to project this rough exterior but think she is coming to realize her feelings for you may be deeper then she thought. Meaning she gets her feelings hurt easier then what she says. do think the age difference in some of the little petty shit but you hooking up with a guy was a communication fail. I'm not judging im only saying maybe she would not have been hurt if you thought to ask her for her permission to hook up with someone before just doing it. A lesson learned ya know. Me and had to define our boundaries too. demanded him to be celibate until come home. always told him that want a monogamous relationship. We have special date nights just like you and Gosh.. think the last tim has had sex with someone else was before he wrote to me which was March of 2020. He has a pocketP. lol We make it work for our marriage though. I think you and her just need to lay it out on the table about how y/*all feel on that topic and come to an agreement that works for y'all. Don't try and tell her what she wants to hear and she shouldn't do that either, just negotiate what is yall terms. Ok that's all the input from the friend lol I'm rooting for you both. :-)	page 707

05/14/2023 02:37:35	Inbound	dang... s00000, you know too? don't know what to do, I'm so lost my means so much to me, she has helped me through thick and thin and betrayed her. wish she could see it from my perspective, it was a one-time thing...a MAJOR screw up, but, was overwhelmed and has given me so many mixed signals. she once said "you can roam around the streets as long as you always come home". we had a 2 hour discussion about my age and hormones, she said she wouldn't stop me from exploring, HOWEVER, she needed me to be 100% with her and wanted me to tell her before and with whom hook up with. my mistake was telling her didn't need to hook up with people because know how to keep myself happy....then I cheated. this may be too much info and I'm not sure if you're going to telly about this email; but anyways, here go: don't want to fore: to fill my urges. my need to be sexual is high for no reason. don't want to and have her think she's only there to satisfy me. you're probably saying "why are you telling me and don't got a loooong email explaining the same thing and much more. thank you for your advice and support, I've been listening to couples podcasts and they are really informative. aaain. thank you :)	page 707

05/15/2023 18:20:24	Outbound	Hey girly, Unfortunately am at a lost of what you should do too. Here is the hard part, don't think you can obtaine from sex entirely is to stay in prison for many years, it is a set up for failure. However agree that yes she did give you hella mix signals and in a way tried to be understanding to your needs and put her feelings aside to allow you to have sex with others. Then when it happened, it hurts. I get it because have thought to giv a hall pass for him to hook up with someone but even the thought made me cry....and he didn't even ever ask for something like that just thought it was what he needed, wasn't listening to my heart when telling him to go and do it knowing would never forgive or forget if he did. My advice to you is buy a toy and call her know you've probably heard of those ones that are for lesbians. Use that for now to calm things between you two. She is your girlfriend, satiscing your needs is a part of that title. know you both are kinky so just blurt it out if you need phone love. Make it clear your needs and ask her for her needs both non sexual and sexual. Youre gonna have to be patient with how she processes this and don't rush her healing. She will heal in her time. I've never seen her be so invested in a relationship before so know she loves you. It will be ok, she just needs time. Things may be a little awkward or different right now but given time y'all will be back to	page 707

It always does! And you've got the strength to find your way thru it all! I've always taught my boys... Life is not always kind and when life is a bh, want them to have the strength and knowledge to bh slap life right back! (I'm not the most conventional parent lol! we come from where the struggle is real!;) And ya know, they are all doing fantastic; even my daughter who was the most headstrong is doing fabulous!!!) I'm the most hardhead, headstrong and rebellious is what I've been told <- and still am! lol! It'll get better!!! And the coincidences still keep coming... get you on the withdrawing thing! Sometimes you gotta... Since now all mine are grown and gone onto their wonderful lives, I've had a lot of time on my hands... and I've studied and researched the psyche' of the mind, the spirit, the aura... if you get the chance, you should look up empath. don't know if believe it all, but do believe a lot of it! I've written to you before awhile back that do believe you feel things as an empath. know do! Everyone relates differently to life and it's definitely interesting. If you do look into that, I'd love to know your opinion and thoughts on if you agree or if you think you can relate to it:)) take online and magazine empath tests often. We believe some of it and it's for fun. Last score: was a Me and 94% empath and she was a 90% empath. I think that's why we connect so well:)) hope distracted you again from worries and funk:)) at least for a few minutes-- all's got other than that is, hugs real tight! We all get in them from time to time. had a few days this week that were pretty ikky to. forced myself to push thru mainly because have my daughter but also because had so much to do. My husband's cousin came from Vegas to visit and our house was the hosting spot. We had nearly 100 people here and was pretty overwhelmed. Im trying to open the pool also and it won't stop raining so can't get the chemicals right. have so much to be thankful for and yet some days am blah also. Were allowed :) cant wait until you get to leave there and go home! I'm sure the anticipation has to be so hard but keep as busy as you can so time goes faster. will write to you and am sure other people do as well and help keep you busy with all of our stuff we have going on in order to help pass time. We are almost halfway thru 2023- its zooming by! hope we can stay in touch after you're out. Maybe you and I could come visit Michigan and could show you some of the beautiful spots here. Mackinaw is one of them and havent been in years and hasn't been at all. saw a video online of someone who went by your old house filming it. The new owners were so mad and the police were called. The people filming were actually really rude! often wonder how many people bother them by doing that. It has to become annoying after awhile. Its funny because on the pages about you online there is so much speculation about you if your together or not lol...its actually crazy how infatuated people are about it. What is Missouri like? Is the weather hot all year or part of the year? 7 from there also? Sorry for all of the questions. Also, take care of yourself when your feeling in a funk. Get out and walk, drink water and eat as healthy as you can. Getting some sun helps and keep around positive people etc. Laughter is good to! took a photo of my Rosie hanging out with me as Im writing this. Im gonna have to give her extra loves for being such a sweet puppy! will send pics of my kitties next time 4) *, actually have 3 puppies, 2 kitties, a guinea pic and a bearded dragon lol. Its short for sure but is straight to the point. How are you doing and how is that funk coming along lol...NOT making fun of you at all, get in them to and totally get it! Sometimes they come out of nowhere and you are just blindsided by it. Just be easy on yourself when it happens and know this to shall pass <3 went on a little bit of a dive on your friend you told me about didn't know you two were in prison together. just read some of her things on tik tok and its a little confusing but think she genuinely cares about you. dont know the entire story and may be wrong. Anyhoo am finishing it today and the PRESSURE LOL....Just knowing will be watching it and reporting back to you is just GAHHHH lol hope that (we) are able to help at least one person to not have to endure what we lived thru. If just one person is able to find professional help to leave the situation they are in it will be worth it. was talking to my hubby last night and was able to open up to him about some of the abuse endured. Im not sure would have been able to without going thru this process- so theres that!	page 256

However, since we were in touch, have given your story a lot of thought as it struck me as particularly poignant and complex. And so, if it is okay with you, wanted reach out to you again to explain a little more about our series, our aims and our approach. To remind you a little about the series, each episode gives an inmate convicted of taking another person's life the opportunity to tell their own story, uninterrupted and in their own words. I appreciate that people are frequently misrepresented by media organisations but must stress that we take our role as factual programme-makers extremely seriously. We have no interest in making sensationalist television, instead, these films are a series of intelligent, sensitive and responsibly produced documentaries that aim to provide an opportunity to give a voice to stories that otherwise may go untold, and in so doing, explore issues of responsibility, personal circumstances, the justice system and shine a light on wider social issues. We are fully committed to an honest, fair and unbiased portrayal of events in each and every one of the cases that we cover. We make these films without agenda - they neither campaign on behalf inmates, nor do they pass judgement or criticise individuals involved. With this in mind, your case particularly stands out. From our research it is our understanding that you experienced ongoing psychological abuse which led you to be trapped into a controlled way of living that you had no choice over. would be extremely grateful to hear a little about what that was like for you, and to understand how events unfolded from your perspective. I appreciate that this is not an easy subject to talk about, and would like to thank you in advance for you time, consideration, and answering my message however you feel able to. would like to apologise for any unintended distress receiving this message may cause you.	page 896

They correspond a little because whet was dating Jennifer took on a dad role to her just wanted to see how he was doing all this time later. Well on mothers day, Jennifer sen a Facebook message because it had been 10 years since they last had spoken. She insulted me in these messages and obviously got upset. had a friend find her on Facebook to relay a message. Basically "please respect my marriage and don't interfere with our life together." is what said. She then responded so hatefully, throwing my past and my crime in my face, claiming his family loves her and if she wanted him back she could take him from me and then said she is heading to Lake Charles to se To which said, " know who knows my heart and we will have a bright future together." and she responded with more hateful stuff. I called mom and she reassured me not to worry. Jennifer is a crazy ex and she is not welcome in our family. She told me that everything that Jennifer said is untrue and to not allow her to make me feel insecure.	page 1021

I'm just being real lol We will continue to adjust our ideas and talk about were we see the finale going. It kinda depends on how long of a span of time will production be. Footprints in the Sand!!! We can't wait until you get here at our resort and under the big umbrella laying on our beach towels with icy daiquiris just made with fresh strawberries, making headbands out of sea shells we caught while shell-fishing and listening to the flowing waves of the ocean and feeling the beaming rays of sunshine and ask you "what took you so long to get here?!"! Until that day, we've built castles and shaped hearts to leave your name in until you walk in the sunshine and cool breeze and leave your footprints ...in the sand!!!	page 242

Anyway my name i and I'm 27 years old and have four wonderful kids. We just celebrated a birthday the other day. It was super hot thought the cake would melt in the car! It didn't thank goodness. read alot of books do you read any or have any favorites? I'm currently reading a book called tigers curse it's about two brothers cursed as tigers and the pretty girl has to travel through different mythical worlds to break the curse and save them. It's a really great read and I'm sure you'll like it. also read alot of Harry Potter. I'm a huuuuuge fan of that, oh and when you get out give stranger things on Netflix a chance because it is truly a must see. I don't have any friends really, mainly just take care of my kids at home until the summer is up, it gets pretty lonely so felt a urge to email you and just be friendly. really hope you reply, I'll even add a stamp so you can if you want. Anyway hope you have a great of a day as you can and I'll continue to pray for you ©	page 284

07/21/2023 01:24:45	Outbound	Thank you. Sometimes question myself if i am good enough or worthy of a good life beyond prison and think back to when was looking at you and mom from behind glass in that first court appearance in Springfield, and am going to prison and was crying knowing my choices led me here. knew then that that was accountable for my choices. My hope for the future is when making big life changing choices and simple ones as well, always ask myself is this going to help me or hurt me or others?. Now being 5 months away from freedom I'm feeling the gravity of that responsibility. i am taking one day at a time and the last 8 years does actually weigh heavy on my mind body and soul. feel myself feel like a grown woman rather than a girl who happens to be older than her appearance. You should hear me talk to the newbies in here, might as well throw out the word whipper snapper lol nah I'm just trying to be a good influence on these young'ns coming in. of course they always want my autograph lol	page 201

And yes, my darling Gypsy, we've been to Hawaii (the family). It was actually my St Jude sons 'make-a-wish' trip in 2005. It was originally planned to be a family 'Christmas in Hawaii' but that's the year Hurricane Katrina hit. It's a familiar story, all the paperwork in New Orleans flooded away. It was April 2006 when we arrived on the Island! We stayed on the Oahu Island. We had a rent-a-car and once we drove out toward the fruit farming lands, peaceful tranquility set in:)) Only thing, Hawaii is known for their massive waves and surfing. Watch out for those gnarly waves dude lol! It's a mesmerizing place. It's peaceful. It's jungle. It's mountains. It's volcanos. It's valleys. It's ocean. It's exotic. It's very close to being one with Mother Nature. Waterfalls, rainbows, misty in the mountains, sun over the ocean... there's beauty everywhere!!!	page 243

07/22/2023 16:49:47	Outbound	absolutely love the book proposal! There was just a few corrections and I'll list said corrections below. OVERVIEW #1 It was a BB gun without safety that shot my mom with. CHAPTER SUMMARY Chapter 3, "Beholding and Bewitched" Can we change verbiage to argument rather than "fight" with my mom to avoid confusion with a physical altercation. Chapter 9? "June 15th 2023" needs to be changed to June 10th 2015 if reference to the date of the murder itself and June 15th was the day of my arrest but both happened in 2015. Didn't know if you meant to put 2023? Character 14, "Life as it was intended" Instead of "sex wit can it be changed to "make love with my husband."? as sex seems too emotionless when this is the first time my emotions will connect to sex. 07/25/2023 10:01:37	Inbound	hello Hey Gypsy, Sounds is really starting to feel truly secure in the relationship to pass this ring onto you. That's awesome. The best relationships are built on sharing your thoughts and dreams and not judging each other. And if you can make each other laugh, that's even more amazing. I can't believe how close you are to finally living the dream. The only things that matter in life are love, memories, and loyalty. One day, prized possessions, unless linked deeply in relation to a memory, all become junk. Noone is better than anyone else just because they have more money or think differently. The most wise people live in the moment grateful for what they have because that is how you live in happiness. It won't always be happy and perfect, but if you take a moment and think about what life would be like without your person, and you realize how sad you would be to lose them, then you have something good. My best advice to you is this, as well. Remember that your husband will have a job, and you may miss him. Sometimes he may have to work overtime to support your family, as know you want kids. Never get upset about him working and not being able to spend more time with you because he wants to spend time with you also... he just has to be responsible first BECAUSE he loves his family. learned this the hard way, and want to share my wisdom with you because you are so nice and want to help mske things as easy as possible for you. ((hugs))) By the way, my grand daughter is 3 months old now. She's cooing and gets excited over color and music on TV. just love her so much! Keep me posted. and be well. mv friend.	page 992

If ever said anything to offend you apologize. Please know that my intention in reaching out to you was to only ever be a friend. never had any ill motives or expectations of anything more. It's been incredibly hard meeting and befriending new people in my 30's and often find myself just wanting to have someone to talk to. initially reached out to you after reading and sympathizing with your case, and quickly learned that you were an incredibly friendly and interesting individual who was easy to talk to. greatly appreciated being able to get to know you a bit over the course of this past year, but know your situation is incredibly complex and being a newly married woman there may be some concerns of the intentions of those reaching out to you, especially males. totally understand that, and am sorry for any issues my contact may have caused between you I truly wish you and the absolute best of luck in everything and hope life on the outside turns out to be everything you wanted and then some! This is extremely inconvenient for me. have parole obligations that my freedom depend on and is non-negotiable. they expect me to do press between the 2nd and 5th assume? My first meeting with my parole officer will likely be that week. There is little to no chance my p.o will allow me to travel to New York the first week am on parole, that is just not likely. The network needs to understand and make adjustments for in the case am not allowed to travel. I am going to need a letter from not only you, but the network as well and maybe the president of the network to beg my p.o to agree to let me travel that fast. in any case, permission to travel is required 30 days in advance of any travel date. Unfortunately, am at a huge disadvantage because am not told when am to meet with my parole officer until the day before my release. It is highly likely it will be after the holiday. The only thing can do that maybe will help is will go through a chain of command and ask my caseworker when my paperwork for my parole will be sent to Louisiana and the can call the Lake Charles office of probation and parole to speak to a supervisor and possibly have some lead way with knowing more information sooner.	page 089

Had done that and be home sure yes THAT would be weird, but I'm coming out of prison and in here we don't have numbered sizes. and she also who actually didn't write it for me. had a friend who won't throw under the bus do it for me © So thank you to all who gave me great advice this weekend. really appreciate it. know that am new into the role of a wife and sometimes do get overwhelmed by things for multiple reasons. The reason why was pondering getting my marriage annulled is and had an argument like all couples do, and during this argument he hit a trauma trigger for me that reminded me of living with my mother and overreacted to it and sent emails to multiple friends within my inner circle contact list on Securus informing them of my thoughts of an annulment. By 3pm this afternoon, was surprised by a visitor that wasn't expecting. It was my husband had been upset with him for a week straight and the moment walked into the room saw him, looking more handsome then think I've ever seen before and couldn't stay mad at him any longer. We talked and communicated our issues and both agreed not to throw around the word divorce so easily. We have our own unique trauma triggers and its about learning how to adapt and communicate through them. So the end result, we will continue to work on ourselves and our marriage. BUT that is not why emailing this, ...As was getting through the search process after the visit, one of the guards asked if it was true, asked what she meant. She to which mentioned seeing a post online that said was contemplating an annulment in addition she said my email was posted where am talking about it... So, one of my friends within my inner circle is posting my business And anyone who knows me well enough knows take my private life serious and only certain few in confidence received that email. will ask whoever posted it, please come forward as send each person whom sent that first email to to come clean to me and explain their reasons for doing this. My marriage is off limits to Post, Tweet, TikTok, Smack chat, and every other form of idle gossip. know and understand that social media is tempting to share your opinions, but unless ask you to share something.... Keep my name and my husbands name OFF social media. To IPO and to whom that may concern, As approach my release date of December 28th 2023, preparations with the institution for media coverage of my release date are underway in regards to a post prison documentary series partnered with AandE and Lifetime Network which will chronicle my journey back into society as a reformed woman. The documentary series will NOT focus on my crime but rather be focusing on my new life and experiences post release. There is great public interest in what will do with my life as a free woman, and many wish me nothing but a happy life going forward and to watch me do positive things with my life. With that being said, my parole officer in Louisiana will need to be made aware of this situation so that everyone understands that have a obligation to the documentary series and to my parole expectations. For questions or concerns please contact the producer/journalist	page 088

I turned in my address for my home plan to the institutional parole officer yesterday and it will be submitted to Louisiana on the 30th for approval. The IPO is calling today at 4 to discuss things. found out that can not have contact with the Pitres unless have permission from my P.O. After am off parole it won't matter. and are waiting for the network to make a good enough deal for his contract. They wanted to offer him $2,500 per episode which is laughable in comparison to mine. His lawyer is going to reach for $10,000 per episode. My book proposal has been submitted to publishers for review and hope to hear offers soon. started work up again and they changed up a few things like classroom location and there will be 9 new kids. three 4th graders, three 7th graders and three 8th graders. They gave him a round of applause because his class had the best grades last year. :-)	page 200

08/10/2023 03:13:41	Inbound	personal question answer:)) pt 1 My darling, Gypsy, we received your email and you can ask me anything personal, ask me anything at all— no topic is off limits! That is a dayum good question. Except I don't have a one size fits all answer!:(I've written to you, rewritten it, written it again and rewritten, rewriting now for like the 5th time I think! That's a great question and I'm trying for the perfect answer—I think give all the answers know and you chose the best one:)) Let me tell you first baby girl, the life you've lived and you're almost so close to being done with being punished (unjustly say but that's none of my bizness) - You have the right, you deserve to be, you've done your time, you've waited what, 32 years for a life that will be your own— if anyone has an issue with you being happy, with you smiling, with you laughing... politely ask them to stand in your shadow so that you can shine!!! It's about to be your time to shine baby girl!!! You know how always written 'like a new born baby', 'a butterfly coming out the cocoon'; I think you should be a moth, a gypsy moth!!! :) lol hear they're some bad a$$es! If someone wants to change you; tell them you've been in the cocoon changing for a long time now and done- what you see is what you get. Whether it's a moth or a butterfly or finally a kiss from your prince to wake you up! Your body is your temple and your mind is your church and your spirit is the foundation from which teaching and preaching will be built upon. You and only you, hold the keys! It's your decision what you allow in; the same, your decision what you keep locked out. If you let others get into your mind with negative thoughts, insults, condescending, make you cry, upset you, hurt your feelings- then given them the power. I'm writing this like an expert in the subject but really only started standing up for myself just a couple or so years ago. After my son Bradley moved out on his own, my husband was always on the road and it was the first time in my life that have no responsibilities except for myself and didn't have my protectors anymore- had to stand on my own! With a lot of time on my hands, researched and researched for years the psyche' of the mind. (EMPATHS) had to learn how to be myself, how to be comfortable in my own skin, get some damn self-esteem back and hold my head high with confidence and be happy with myself and proud of who am and never stand down, even when no one's got my back; got my own back and here am, just as am, accept me for who I am, there isn't another option and I'll extend the same courtesy and if you can't accept me, as painful as that maybe, I'm going do me and keep it	page 243
08/10/2023 03:19:33	Inbound	personal question answer:)) pt 2 was talking to a young man the other night on this same topic. It's been life-long. From the ones who want to change you, the ones who physically force you into submission, the ones that verbally attack, the ones who condescend, talked down to as if you are stupid to humiliate and the ones that step on your back to exalt themselves... it's been challenging and it can all be psychologically damaging! will remain who am because don't know who else I'm supposed to be except me! Mostly, if it's a particular person that you care about... how do they affect your life, do they pay your bills, is life more peaceful without them... Are they worth seeing you at your true self.. Don't ever let anyone change you!!! Life has dealt me so many blows and so many hardships and kicked down, thrown around, beat down and every time get up, get up stronger and with a smile on my face. If want to live my life being carefree, silly, spontaneous, playful, child-like, vagabond, bohemian, young in mind, wild at heart— well that's the 'gypsy' in me and want to be free and if don't want to take life so seriously, that's the way it's going to be! Come back around, the conversation with the young man... He asked a similar question. Being that he doesn't conform to 'norm' causes him to be outcast. I've been shunned, outcasted, talked about, lied about, jealous of, talked down to... With that, been called eccentric, wild, untamed, crazy, out there, approachable, easy to talk to, that make others comfortable to be themselves and my favorite... hear a different beat and march to the sound of a different drummer!!! been complimented many times for accepting people as they are and given them confidence to be who they are and being comfortable enough to talk to me about feelings and emotions and thoughts that they've always keep confidential for fear of not being accepted. don't know how to accept that at times because was just being me! understand the feeling of rejection; it stings! People fear what they don't understand. I told him, don't endure it— embrace it!!! (He liked that!) Others love us and want to be us. Here's to the boring people because we are not them! told him whether you hate us or love us; never ever forget us — and he laughed, said that's right, I'll never forget you! When he said that, started blushing with a smile on my face and that makes it all worthwhile!	page 243

08/28/2023 12:50:41	Inbound	Reputation Recovery Post-Release Hi Gypsy! My name i I'm 28 years old and work at a public relations firm in Washington, DC that specializes in reputation recovery. We do work with prisoners (and many types of individuals) who need help figuring out how to get their narrative out there and positioned to give them the best possible success after a reputationally damaging situation. I've been following your story for years and cannot begin to imagine what you went through. have so much sympathy for those who deal with medical abuse (I'm actually working with a female inmate in Virginia right now who is dealing with medical abuse in prison!). Anyway, am reaching out to see if you'd be interested in possibly hiring us to help with your post-incarceration life, narrative, reputation and more. know it can be really challenging to re-enter into society after prison, especially if you barely had a life of your own beforehand! So, if you are interested in talking about this further, please let me know. I'm happy to connect with your family and/or lawyers if you would like me to speak with them about this. Hope to hear from you soon! :) PS- I'm attaching a picture of my miniature pet toucan, Chester. He's a little famous on the internet, and totally crazy, but thought you might enjoy seeing a photo of him.	page 1070

08/29/2023 22:18:06	Outbound	Hell Thank you for reaching out. have a few questions. Does your services help with getting certain content off of the internet? unfortunately have a few risque photos of myself that would like taken down. Also have the unfortunate burden of obsessed individuals who spread misinformation about me online as well as multiple people who claim to be me on social media such as Instagram, TikTok and Facebook. understand that as a public figure can not control how people use my name and likeness, however it is upsetting how people use my name to make fake accounts. I am currently filming for a 16 episode docu-series about my life partnered with Lifetime Network and writing my story in a feel like these paths to bring my true story to light is important. I am currently married with the hopes of starting a family soon. am to be released in late December and have a whole new world step into and don't feel my reputation is necessarily "bad" but do have the unfortunate stigma of being branded a murderer regardless of my story. have many who think of me with sympathy and some who can only call true crime obsessed individuals who wish to drag my name through the mud. In closing. just wondering specifically how does your services help with someone like me with their reputation? Thank you for your time.	page 1070

09/08/2023 13:48:35	Inbound	home from road Oh no that your roommate is sick. Hope it gets better and nothing too serious. And oh no darling girl, meant anytime now until you're released! do last minute—I'd have to get m clothes and get my makeup on and get my hair did lol! First impressions ya know (like, dayum my older friend/sista from Louisiana is hott LOL!) And even then, I'd do it only at your request:)) Otherwise, we've come this far, think meeting privately would be more of a comfort zone. Rules and regulations make me nervous an impulsive, spontaneous in the moment kind of person and a perfectionist. Trying to follow the rules, always seem to break them lol! Not really rebellious, but hard headed is an adjective I've been described as but I don't think so that either- just do my own thing! Eccentricity, not conformity;) Hey, are y'all allowed to play spades?!? A friend of mine recently released said spades wasn't allowed because it caused too much aggression. Woww. My husband played at Angola. He was a guard there after the Army where he learned to play. taught my boys and nieces and nephews and they taught their friends and it's kinda cool such an old school way is played by high schoolers here as a fun game of competition and becomes a tradition! Two things that get loud in my house— spades games and LSU football games! I'm just rambling but it came to mind what hobbies, interests you'll be into?!?!? Before left home to visit my brothers in Missouri, my sister in Arkansas, my daughter in Shreveport all in Labor Day Weekend, had a pool table delivered on August 25th and it's right in the middle of my livingroom! love shooting pool! That's our family thing! My best friend Ronnie, that taught us how, was expert level, trick shots and all. wouldn't even shoot pool with my 8yr old, cause Ronnie taught him how to sink the 8 ball on the break! C'mon over and shoot some pool sometime anytime when you got the time:))— It took us 8hrs to make a 5hr trip. a flat swampland driver and if you want to hear a lot of fbombs, watch the video of me driving us thru the mountains LoL Like a roller coaster ride! Now I'm rambling and relaxing :) far tah. 1449 naan	page 244

And the place is decorated very neat with skeleton horses and people, and cobwebs and ghosts, etc. It's my favorite wine festival all year. will have to send you some pictures. Tom and may go to Reaper's Revenge too, if we can afford it. it's very cool, and he never went, so really hope to be the one that gets to take him. heard they had a relaxed day there where officers and inmates hang out and have fun together. The documentary series follows the life of my wife and I. Last year had a zoom meeting with HR to discuss the special circumstances regarding my marriage to my wife GypsyRose Blanchard who is well known in the public eye. was told that my personal life would not be of any hindrance to my job, nor does it effect my abilities to teach. hold the schools privacy standards in high regard and can assure you that will be no mention of my position teaching at this particular school to ensure its privacy is not at risk. Please let me know if this will be an issue or if you need to speak with me further. enjoy teaching and just want to be completely transparent about this matter.	page 953

THIS is the straw that breaks us? really? after everything we have ahead of us... have not cheated or broken anything that can't be talked out so why are you doing this to me? baby please just the and we can talk this out like a loving couple should.	page 953

GET IT LOOKS BAD! BUT FUCK my friend is an idiot! and does shit without walking me through it first. As for account that stemmed from talking about a picture me and his mom! did you also see we looked at his moms account? Lam in Lam ta VOLL ta mal I called you non stop after you hung up on me. set on the big phone calling until couldn't call anymore. am sorry that upset you but you didn't give me a chance to explain. Had you answered, would have explained that on September 14t and mentioned mom and said "I wonder if she still has the picture we took when she came to looked her up and the picture we took wasn't there. Unfortunately, my path crossed with many in a complicated way and you have helped me write and send such messages. Maybe do dwell on the past too much but my past is a source of pain that needs healing. You say you are my supportive husband but you don't ask me what will help me heal from my past. You used to know how to make me feel better when was sad, now sometimes YOU are what makes me sad. feel like sometimes you are robbing me of having a voice by scrutinizing who message, and now who's profile view! The sad part is this is such a trigger for me because my mother would prevent me from having communication with males for a fear of a romantic connection and now that am in a marriage with boundaries regarding other males, it fucks with my head and am put back in that time with her. am trying to adapt to married life but some of it feels like life with my mother all over again specifically when it pertains to friendships or communication with men. Either you trust me or you don't. just know this is a hot button issue and don't know how to give you security to feel safe in your role as lover and me peace of mind to feel liberated as a person with autonomy. Why am upset with mom is because me and try and be so cautious about what information we give out and mom will open up to a sob story that any of these women give to her. I get you are upset that posted about it but was upset and i felt how do show validity in my feelings if not for other people staying they see it too, but took it down now. Publicly is a different story when it comes to family. We stick together always. don't blame you for not wanting to be friends witl we are not friends, she has never been to our home and don't expect much more association with her in the future. read the text between here and mom and it was short. She told mon she was reachn out to in touch and wasnt going to talk bad about anyone and said should would say she was a friend of the family. Mom said so what you gotta do and make sure she told the was not an expert or a friend of the family. That was it. Anyways handled the situation well last night and respect him for that. Him and both in the middle defending our ladies. I'm proud he stuck up for you. Thank you for deleting the post. I just wanted step mom out of it. She is gonna get away for the weekend and Dont feel bad or anything, we'll be ok and get passed it. love you too.	page 200
09/29/2023 23:46:36	Inbound	Congratulations! I just read online about the fantastic news - You are getting out soon! hope you took plenty of notes for your book deal. I've prayed so hard for you to be released for your sake, for justice, and to prove mbp abuse should be legally regarded as life-threatening warranting selfdefense. look forward to hearing good things about your progress. (Maybe in a blog?) suspect that my emails made you uncomfortable when wrote of being 55 (now) and I'm still stalked by an mbp (and her flying monkeys)with everything and everyone love violently destroyed or perhaps it's the way felt you were lucky for sacrificing a mere 7 years for true freedom. Maybe that's why you stopped writing(?) In any case your life will become even busier, suspect. If you'll allow me to indulge, i wanted to share one more thing recently discovered about my situation which I haven't told anybody else: when was in early grade school, around 8yrs, my mbp handed me to her brother who performed a medical procedure on me to permanently prevent me from having children... or grandchildren, any family whatsoever. She was planning early for the future, huh? @ That means no heirs (she gets everything if she succeeds to kill me off), no support system, no husband (after she tells of my inadequacy), etc. All alone for my remaining years either feared or hated bc of her aggressive, hate-filled lies. Please feel lucky. wonder if you truly know how much danger you were in. What you did was selfdefense and I'm proud of you. Next, hopefully your knight in shining armor who sacrificed his life to protect you, as my soulmate did for me, will be released, God willing. TY for listening. Good luck and welcome back!	page 445

Now, it needs to be said, am not looking to get rich, or famous by attempting to forge a relationship with you. Not at all. It comes from a place of support, and genuine need to want to help people like you. Actually, just went back to school to get my degree for the sole purpose of helping people in your situation. strongly believe that people that make mistakes are not bad or should be judged by what they have done. They need support, and love, and that is my reason for reaching out. I live in Syracuse, NY with my two kids 14 and 18. may be 40, but I do not look or act it lol. So, if we forge a connection, know that you are in for some super fun times haha. What does your support system look like on the outside? hope it is a good one. do not want to keep this too long for the first time am reaching out. Maybe you do not want to keep talking. Yeah know I can be impulsive with a lot. fussed and we had a argument over how he handled it all and for me was disappointed because feel he stays so quiet about so much and just let's me handle it and idk maybe wanted him to be more vocal about his position in supporting me but he did support me behind the scenes ya know. Maybe I'm too hard on him. also felt hurt by your initial email because wasn't giving you bs with being worried for my safety. My private post on Facebook with my friends is one thing for a NFL game with security, and a public announcement of the location and day step on public property for the first time is another. you don't know they crazy people have had take a interest in me over the years some are very creepy and unstable individuals, and yeah I'm gonna have to get used to it but yes it does concern me that anyone can wait for us outside of prison grounds. get how you was concerned for your wife's emotions in the moment but you really had none for your daughter, who is very fragile right now. is getting some of my attitude these days. 10/12/2023 14:08:55	Inbound	airbnb i just found this in my draft folder - totally thought i sent if- ha! new stuff is below the old stuff oh, no, what happened (with the airbnb)? why did the woman cancel? i had a long talk yesterday - everything sounded so great. i guess this just means another, better airbnb is out there waiting for you guys to find it :) i haven't contacted the hair salon yet - waiting to get the greenlight from the network/cat 6. i'll let you know when everything is a go. has your PO been by the and the apartment yet? (new stuff) sorry for the delay in response to your last two emails. i had a high school girls reunion this weekend that i co- hosted. we had friends here from friday until monday. then i had to deliver a cut of my current show to the network on monday. then, i wa with my mom for two nights. i'm finally catching up and catching my breath... have you seen the article about the docuseries on just sent it to me. it's so fun to see you interviewed in the article and the OFFICIAL airdates. sadly, i am not happy with the trailer the marketing team produced. i think the one we did for them (and we did several versions) was MUCH better. the one they did feels cheesy to me and alittle forced. sorry, i hope you like it okay. rest assured, the series is better than the trailer :) i think it's so thoughtful that you want to donate money to make a wish fundation. we would obviously love to be there with you when you do that. we will set that up with them when the time comes. and yes, we'll also have to call the salon, nail place and where ever else you want to go to see if we can film at their locations. guessing they will love the publicity and it won't be a problem, but you never know. i have a call set up to talk at AE tomorrow - hopefully i'll get some info on what's happening with the second season, when we're gearing up, etc. i'll pass along any info.	page 1037

10/20/2023 01:50:15	Outbound	He I talked and we feel like with the time frame we have to film our focus can be centered around the family dynamics... so meaning family, me spending time with my family, ect. If they can wrap up at the beginning of April has spring break March 29th - April 7th and we can go on a vacation out of state. Just a thought. We will keep things pretty close to home for January/February and can film in New Orleans and Cut Off as much as we need to. Again am sorry if my reaction was abrupt was not at all directing it towards you. was directing towards the network because feel like they don't have faith that people will be interested in my life. I am mentally preparing to film and do things in a layout with story arcs then it gets thrown up in the air, so had a small pity party for myself then re-adjusted and moved on positively. Today was stressful but like you said, after this small window of filming can get my cosmetic work done between gigs. :-)) I just bought a selfie ring light for at home lol	page 101
10/20/2023 00:35:52	Outbound	Thank you. I talked today and guess the network is cutting down our number of episode to be filmed post release. This is disappointing to me because we had made plans spanning over 8 months and now they are only filming us within a 2-3 month span. Meaning need to fill the show with as much as can in 3 months and it is just like wtf? nothing is set in stone yet but it is stressful working my life around this show. They want me to work and do all this for now half the way at naid nar anienda	page 207
10/20/2023 11:46:07	Inbound	bummer Well that's a bummer. At least it will be over much quicker and you guys could concentrate on having some real life fun. I'm sure it's stressful because they'll be all up in your business. You'll be glad when it's done and over, and maybe you'll get follow up deal a little later. Probably wouldn't be as long but hopefully your book can supplement some income as well. It's God's plan so you gotta let it happen and have faith he'll provide if you follow his rules. love you.	page 207

10/26/2023 16:06:25	Outbound	Thank you. That has been a issue for years, sources claiming to be associated with me and my family, and have not been able to set the record straight because of my NDA with Lifetime network for this series. There is one woman in particular, her name i who has repeatedly gone to In Touch magazine to spread misinformation to the public and it stems from a feud between her and my family from over three years ago when she claimed to be a screenwriter approaching my family to make a scripted series. We eventually uncovered that she is a fraud looking to gain fame, and ever since then she actively spreads misinformation about me. appreciate you reaching out to the right people. :-)	page 1081

For real talk, when got the invite for the Release Day Party, my heart did skip a lil beat and a deep breath—that's just me with the invitation; can only imagine the feelings, the emotions, the thoughts that you must be having!!! Your mind must be up and down like a roller coaster and slow around the curves and flying down the mountain at times it must seem! If you ever want to talk about it, I'm here!! (sent ya $25 for phone calls to family and friends or late night snacks, whatever it may be to bring you comfort;) Above all else, know it's got to be excitement!!! I'm so proud of you, I'm so happy for you! hope this journey of our friendship continues and the best days and the best memories to be made are coming to us soon—— Again, thank you for your friendship and hope you've known and felt my support all the way through—above all else, that's what wanted, for you to know that you are not alone! It's gonna be a wonderful day, lots of emotions, tears and smiles, smiles thru the tears, laughter and as I'm sure it will be with all happiness... and at the end of the day, you will know without a doubt, you are not alone in this next journey of your extraordinary life!:) One more thing while I'm in my feels... I've always said that I'd rather crawl up the mountain and feel every rock and stone and every mudhole and every sticker and insect bites and filling and getting back up again and again and again and again and to know I've not only lived life, but felt it— but dayum, sometimes just want to say give me the keys and gonna drive up this son-a-bish. But never will , cause once on top of the mountain, I'll have the strength and courage to never fall down again!!! You got this!!! We got you!!! <3 Love Ya, 62 days	page 248

10/27/2023 19:38:57	Outbound	Hi Ok, as a "source" close to Gypsy. These are things my friends would actually say about me and feel weird typing it. lol "Gypsy is excited and looking forward to having true freedom for the first time in her life. She has a devoted support system in her family and who have stood by her side throughout her incarceration. Gypsy's family and friends have every faith that Gypsy will be able to thrive outside of prison and one day be a impactful advocate for both mental health awareness and Munchausen Syndrome By Proxy awareness. One thing about Gypsy is that, for as much as she has been through, she is incredibly well adapted and selfaware. Gypsy has matured and came into womanhood in her own time. Her attitude and level of dedication to better herself through multiple group mental health therapy sessions spanning eight years has prepared Gypsy for her transition back into society and is the primary reason that she has been granted parole. Gypsy's voice goes beyond that of her own story, believe she has the potential to reach a vast audience who can relate to her in many ways and she will touch many lives going forward." Note Unfortunately can't give anymore then that for "the source." Also, this is not public knowledge and we don't plan to make it public due to safety concerns until afterword, but my husband and bought tickets to a Kansas City Chiefs game that will be on December 31st. I am a huge Taylor Swift fan, so hoping that maybe see her there. I plan on giving her a shout out on Instagram and Twitter when am at the game and am hoping she sees it. It is a long shot, but a loyal Swiffie and meeting her would be the best start to my new year. Anyways, would appreciate you using the source so am not in breach of my NDA. :-)	page 1081
10/27/2023 15:13:58	Inbound	TMZ Thanks so much for your quick response! Totally understand with your situation with the NDA, but I'd love to help get your story out there! Is it possible you answer the questions and can source it as "sources who regularly speak with Gypsy" so we can start to get an accurate narrative of how you're feeling and tone down the fake reports. give you my word won't quote you or say spoke to you. I'd love to have a long-standing relationship with you! And also want to help get your story out there, which will be the most accurate. We don't have to spoil what is in the documentary, just a general idea of how you're feeling, who you're giving your prison things to and what your plans are post release. You have my word, beautiful!	page 1081

I'll write up the story today and publish it on the website possibly tomorrow! know you don't want the Chiefs story out because of safety concerns. But (hear me out), ifwe do a story in advance that you are a big fan ofTaylor and you bought tickets with the hopes to attend...I feel like there's a good possibility she will read the story and set up a meet and greet with you. We have a good relationship with her team. I can say it from sources that you bought the tickets and "might" show up, and that you are a huge fan and hope to see her at the game. Thoughts? Also- hope you watch our Halloween episode today! We all dressed up and it was super fun! was Barbie haha.	page 1081

I'm a reporter with Teen Vogue (https://www.teenvogue.com/) and I'm wondering if you might be open to being interviewed for an article. Your story has, of course, captivated our audience, and I'm sure many will be interested in hearing what your life has been like lately. Given the young age of our audience, think your story is particularly relevant, as you missed out on a typical teenage life. I'd love to speak with you about your experiences as a teen, what being in prison in your young adulthood has been like, and the ways you hope to experience the world post-release. also focus quite a bit on mental health in my reporting, so I'd love to get your take on munchausen by proxy, and what you wish people would understand about how it can impact people like you. I'd love to speak with you for the story prior to your release, and shortly after to see how you're doing. Let me know if this is something you're interested in. hope to hear from you soon. 11/08/2023 19:20:45	Inbound	Hello Hi Gypsy, my name is again. Sent ua message a while back. Thought I'd say hi again. Give you something to read/do. Hope your doing ok. I'm sure time goes by slow in there. Merry Christmas and Happy New Year. Not sure if yall get to do anything special at all for holidays in there. I'm just here resting in Texas. To me New Years is more of a couples holiday and im single so not a whole lot for me to do. might pop some fireworks or something but no big plans. Anyways, would love to hear from and about you. Hope your doing well Hi, how are you Gypsy? My name i but gob was watching TV and saw ur story and it made me sad. have had some family be in prison and just thought I'd write u a little letter of encouragement and hope you are doing ok. know from family members how tough it can be in there and cant believe a beautiful girl like yourself was taken advantage of so bad. Your story is one of the worst I've ever seen. can't believe the way you were treated, etc. Obviously what u ended up doing is wrong but also think you were over punished some. Anyways, I'm just a laid back guy from Texas, 39 years old and Hispanic. love sports, like to watch movies and love the outdoors. I'm sure you get tons of mail so you prob have plenty of people to write to so if u don't write back no big deal but if you want a nice pen pal, u can write me anytime or if you just need someone to vent to or whatever I'm easy going. Even through everything your personality seems very genuine and sweet so would love to write back and forth. Hope your doing ok. Let me know a little about you. Hope to hear from you soon	page 014

11/09/2023 00:53:04	Outbound	Hey, So cleared out a shit ton of people off my fb including Sin and her because felt that got too lax with accepting people who were friends of my friends and now that am about to get out need to know who my friends are. actually blocked Sin from everything of mine due to the drama with my I've known} for almost 7 years and he showed her kindness by buying her a ticket to comic con and she asked to hold his hand the whole time as they went as friends and so he allowed it, (he thought she is weird and a odd one who seems socially awkward AF) then the next day she says he made unwanted advances towards her THEN it gets better, she posted on fb a selfie of her wearing the hai bought for her as she is screaming sexual harassment!!! wtf! She seems fake AF and don't have time for her. She made beautiful art and am thankful but don't need attention seekers like her in my life.	page 881
11/09/2023 11:54:06	Inbound	Hey Hey Gypsy understand where you are coming from with figuring out who your true friends are. However don't believe Sinese is an attention seeker she really thought he was sweet at first for getting them tickets and she said she had a good time while they were together there. Yes she likes holding hands with friends if people are comfortable. And was cool with everything the main thing she didn't like was when he put his hand on her thigh and being pushy with her responding fast to texts . really so don't know exactly what he's like completely. But she said she's gonna pay him back and apologize. She's just been through some stuff and probably is a little socially awkward. You do what you feel is best for you though just want you to know Sineses side too . Anyways love you and respect whatever decisions you make. she's lonely during the day and would love you to call her .	page 881

Then the next day she says he made unwanted advances towards her THEN it gets better, she posted on fb a selfie of her wearing the ha bought for her as she is screaming sexual harassment!!! wtf! 11/10/2023 11:37:31	Inbound	Congratulations on your parole Gypsy! Dear Gypsy, wrote to you a number of time a few years ago when contacted prisoner's to become "Pen Pal", however stopped contacting Inmates in the US back in 2021 as decided to set up a Pen Pal scheme in my own country of England because at the time the UK did not have the same email system that the US had. decided to contact you specially however because recently learn of your success of parole. Let me start by saying how happy am that you finally are going to be freed from prison, have long preyed for your release from prison and tried to help petition for your early release along with many of your fellow UK supporters. Is it true you that you wish to become a "Motivational Speaker" after your release?, because think your voice will help many people who have been through a similar experience to what you have and could even spread awareness for by-proxy, however please only do this when you are ready since you first to spend time with you Family and become acquainted to the outside world. As the day of your release is fast approaching know you must be both nervous and excited but know you will be OK, since you are a very tough cookie who and strong independent woman. What do you plan to do on your first day of freedom? know many people who tell me they go for "Ice cream" with there family but of course everyone is different. All want you to know is you are amazing, and hope you have a long and happy life. All the best from the UK and please stay positive and will keep you and your family in my preys Your Sincerely	page 699
11/10/2023 09:26:38	Inbound	Hey hey! Awesome Gypsy! will add her to my contact list! Did you see the Taylor Swift story and were you okay with it? Also - do you have anything special planned for your last Thanksgiving in prison? Hope you're having a nice week!	page 1079

11/11/2023 09:33:15	Inbound	Good Moming Hello Gypsy, forgot to leave my number for you are able to call me if you like. My number i Also, don't worry you won't need to use your free calling minutes. Anyways, I'm curious to do you have family that is a support system for you? ask this because prison is known to let you get out and have no where to go. I'm hoping the news media don't cover when you get out, out. If you ever need security I'm a licensed body guard. really hope the warden and your probation officer and whomever your going home to all work together to have a peaceful transition for you. What upsets me is all this time why you've been in prison people from social media, to YouTube, to other sources are making money off you. So, hopefully when you get out you can get all this shut down for it don't affect you hun. Like said it's going to be scary. And don't be afraid to hook up with doctors to help you adjust to the world. You were so young when you got locked up. I'm so sorry your mom did all that to you. I've not reached out to your ex at all. You won't be able to also when you get out. But, I'm being for real. When you get out make sure you lean on your parole officer for everything. They will be able to hook you up with all kinds of resources. Let me tell you a bit about my self. was raised as a pastors son. So, didn't want to follow my fathers foot steps due to he thought being bi sexual was a sin. Yes, did do one wish he requested which was become a pastor myself So, did do as promised he would. You won't find me preaching to others. don't even run a church. I'm just a support system for other's and do weddings, funerals, and pray with people. was married to my ex wife we have a beautiful daughter She's 16 years old. Shes into cos play. When was younger I learned loved men. met my deceased husband in prison. Him and ended up finding my ex wife name Tasha. Then we lived live all together. Then my ex wife and got a divorce and married him. Just recently my ex wife has come back into mine and our daughter's life. I'm 43 and ex wife is 39. And as said before our daughter is 16. But life is going good for us. The family says hello. Well, I'm going to let this email hopefully get to you and feel free to contact me by phone anytime. Thanks	page 1077

11/23/2023 08:30:03	Inbound	is life? Hey Gypsy, hope this letter finds you well. It has to be weird to get a lot of attention from random strangers, also know you've been bombarded by letters lately from what your Instagram is saying so hope this one is able to find its way to you. don't wanna make small talk, don't want to beat around the bush, and especially don't want to bother you with the same old boring spiel everyone gives you about how I'm sorry that you were dealt those cards and I'm sorry you're in this situation, even if do mean it. don't even know where I'm going with this, just wanted to be a person connecting with another human being, and i can't understand or relate, i wasn't in your shoes but i wanna say i hope you understand how cared for and supported you are by so many people. i had my own situation with my mom, very different but she still gave me a lot of mother issues, mommy issues as my friends so lovingly call it hah.. i feel like ones image is deeply affected when our moms hurt us the way they did, and these issues play out in so many ways as i'm sure you know (i'm guessing therapy went through it) it's hard to exist in this world without a little help, but that little girl inside you that never got a chance to be a child, i hope she gets the chance to be a child, i hope you find it within yourself to hold and hug little gypsy and finds time to remind her that has and always will deserve more. Gypsy, you're almost free, be free.	page 1083

It makes us entirely unique yet joins us in a way that only can be understood as a sense of relating or understanding and makes us hyper sensitive to certain emotions. For example can more easily understand a survivor of sexual abuse because of my own past trauma. Same as someone in a domestic abusive relationship. That's why was kinda drawn to message you. I'm a pretty simple person now though that I've gotten through everything that happened to me. I think you're incredibly brave, and fascinating. I'm not sure if this message will ever reach you, but if it does would love to get to know the real Gypsy Rose, and not what newspapers, tabloids, and documentaries have portrayed you as. If this message does reach you, believe God put it in my heart to write to you. To say that so many people love and care about you and that we're all waiting for you when you get out. 12/04/2023 10:56:55	Outbound	Call This Morning. My Love, also believe this morning our talk was as one of the most impactful conversations we have ever had not because of what was really said but how we handled what was said. For the first time felt humbled in our marriage and it was a wake up call to recognize that it isn't all about me and it made me stop and look at how am performing as a wife, am giving you what you need to feel loved and respected because made a vow to be the person who does. This morning looked at the selfies you've taken lately and realized the signs were there and didn't see it as it was right in front of me. You haven't been wearing your wrestling button ups to school, you've been wearing your nice shirts and now know why. The little choices that we make have such a bigger meaning when we look in hindsight. Now if you'd worn your Aqua De Gio cologne on top on wearing the nice button ups we have a problem lol I'm not invincible, and neither are you..we are just as human as the next couple...but we do have a choice to choose this marriage every moment of every day for the rest of our lives. chose you. I will trust you will do the same. know why you put it in my hands and first opportunity did what needed to do. I love you and no one will ever be better than you. You have me...forever. We are going to have an amazing together life really soon. we will see things broke people dream about. We are going to have beautiful babies and we will watch them grow and get married and they will give us grandbabies and we will be sitting side by side when we rejoin our Creator in Heaven. Our storyline is not about us having a popular TV show, or expensive shoes, it is how we love each other in the deepest ways two people can love each other. THAT is our legacy. That is our story. A real A love of a lifetime. You make me the happiest woman in the world. <3 love Your Wife	page 956

During the day am filling my time with work so don't think about it but at night.... Its all think about now. You see know you, know your tone of voice and when get too close to finding more about her your tone changes...Like when said she used to work at the Golden Nugget and you freaked a little and very nervously said "have you spoke with her?!" meaning you already knew that about her... what more have you spoke about? why did you want me and her to be friends, why is this womans name in your mouth more then reasonable?... You have mentioned her several times before you told me of your attraction to her... how much interaction have you really have had... the truth is learning that you even thought about a life in which if you weren't married to me it would be her...and you work with her... No matter how much talking me see you differently. This is consuming me and can pretend to be ok for the sake of our show but know that deep down a part of me was lost in that conversation. can't unlearn this, ignorance IS bliss.	page 956

12/06/2023 01:11:46	Outbound	Hi So I am going to be completely honest with you. feel like if we keep up this vibe it is going to lead to me driving a hundred miles to Alabama and end up in your bed. Two days ago confessed to my husband that am attracted to you and it may just be some harmless flirting but it also can escalate to more if we let it. Unfortunately to my surprise my husband confessed to me that he is attracted to a woman he works with and is going out of his way to spend time working together. am not going to lie my feelings are hurt. thought there could never be anyone but me... After 3 years of loyalty, and 24 days before get out he tells me he has a crush on a coworker.. know the things said to you was not innocent but he is actually there with her working side by side. Yesterday I cried all day after he lied to me claiming they weren't friends on FB then found out they are. truly don't know if caught him or if it happens to be some kind of innocent misunderstanding because it has been known that he just doesn't get on FB often and simply forgot he was friends with her.	page 1082

Just looking at the schedule for the 29th with everything we have planned: multiple treatments at the salon, shopping and a dinner date... think we'll be hitting overtime sometime during your dinner date. So if we were going to go back with you to the hotel may need to talk to the team about overtime approval and/or change up the first half of the day. That said if you're going to have a night at a hotel specifically so you two can get down after your date... I'm going to make sure we have some part of that on camera even if it's me with an iPhone helping you guys selfshoot a little something before you kick me out. Let me talk to the team and think that through and get back to you. Clearing hotels can be tricky. The best bet is to go with an independent / boutique type hotel. Do you have any specific hotel in mind? It is more of a collection of my inner thoughts about my life looking back and stories untold until now. It is a piece of myself in a way that really shows who am as a person rather than the events that took place and like it :-)	page 913

12/13/2023 20:53:17	Inbound	Kids need your voice I am writing to you because my daughter, and are currently living a nightmare. You and us have something in common, Dr.'s have failed us but in different ways. A psychologist came to my custody hearing and diagnosed me with having Munchausen by proxy without ever evaluating me or my daughter. She almost destroyed my life because she is selling her diagnosis to the highest bidding parent in custody cases. She almost caused me to lose my child, my job (I work as a pharmacy tech and someone with Munchausen cannot have any medical license), my livelihood, and almost sent me to jail. She called DCF on me and tried to get my child removed from me and told a report full of lies and even misrepresented herself to DCF. My ex-husband hired her to testify as an expert witness in our case, the problem is she never performed any exam to reach any conclusions. DCF launched a full on investigation into my life for 2 months and after 12 different entities picked apart our lives they determined there was not a shred of evidence that suggests my daughter was a victim of Munchausen. Holli is not on any medication, only ever had tubes placed in her ears due to chronic ear infections and when they were placing tubes in her ears they discovered her adenoids was causing 75% obstruction and went ahead and removed those. Other than that she has just had your typical childhood illnesses like flu, rsv, etc. So due to her having ear infections which was resolved with tubes put in her ears and because she ate an olive garden salad the day before went into preterm labor at 18 years old (apparently the dressing has castor oil in it and that can cause preterm labor which did not know as there was no warning on it) that must have Munchausen. My ex-husband has quite a few at the time minor victims he molested and even admitted to in deposition, text message, and even in court along with one of the victims testifying as well. This very thing is what started my divorce and custody battle had awoken to him masturbating completely naked with his hand in the back of her diaper. But due to there being no evidence of penetration, she had just turned 2 and could not talk, he of course did not admit it, and I did not think to record this they did nothing to him. But due to this Dr. diagnoses was not allowed the opportunity to speak and the magistrate went ahead and did a ruling of 50/50 7 days on and 7 days off and handed my daughter over to this monster. Less than 6 weeks later he reoffended and SA assaulted her and her 3 year old cousin again and even beat her with belt. My daughter and desperately need a voice like yours to help us and the other families that been victimized by this Dr. There has to be a protocol put into place if there is a suspected Munchausen case and not just rip families apart based off of one Dr.'s statement which almost happened to me. At the same time there should be a centralized data base made for all kids and anyone with a proxy that all hospitals, Dr. offices, urgent cares, etc has to check at every visit that shows the reasons for the visits and all the info provided and its centralized so this is accessible at every office. This would help prevent more cases like yours and prevent cases like mine from happening. You have a very strong and powerful voice with the capabilities to make real positive change for the ones that do not have a voice. really need any type of assistance at all that you may have to offer to help my situation. This Dr. is selling these diagnosis and ripping families apart. I am writing to you to be the voice for the voiceless. We do not know how prevalent this illness is in parents and how many kids are suffering due to this so my idea would help shed some light on this issue but establish a protocol to prevent families being ripped apart like my case almost was. am still battling this as this Dr. is still trying to push this off	page 1090

12/14/2023 20:11:17	Inbound	Feeling Hopeful Again live in Florida the same a the girl you are talking about. am very familiar with her case and it is heartbreaking that she had to go through that. live in Leesburg FL, it is a little town in Lake County. Lake County is in Central Florida kinda of close to Disney World. This county is known for many injustices and even have books written about it and can vouch those injustices are still alive and well here. The Dr. am referring to is Dr. Nodarse, she is a school psychologist and has absolutely no history of dealing with MBP. have been battling this all on my own for months and would be extremely grateful for any help you could provide at all. have always been an advocate for my baby and would never do anything to harm her. will be more than happy to provide whatever you need to help with the situation. have been thoroughly investigated by 12 different entities and they left no stone unturned. Dr. Nodarse has her own practice here in Mt. Dora, FL. You have no idea how much it means to me that you replied back and willing to help. have had door after door slammed in my face and told am sorry cannot help you because it is easier to say that then attempt to help me. My situation like yours an is not a typical everyday situation so it really is hard for people to know how to help. would love for there to be a balance with this terrible diagnoses. want to be a voice for the voiceless as well as know what it is like to be begging and pleading for help and it falls on deaf ears. This Dr. is tearing families apart left and right here in Lake County and we need a strong voice and advocate like yours to help stop this monster. There has to be a protocol or system put into place to help stop situations like both of ours. read your email today at work and just started crying tears of happiness that you responded willing to help me, so far you are the only one that has agreed to help at all. Whatever you need from me am more than happy to provide! will hang on to all of it and send it to your gmail closer to your release date. You will probably receive a scanned in letter written by me soon, sent that before knew this securus was an option to contact you. You have no idea how much relief and hope your email has given me! :) have been trying to protect my daughter and they made me out to be crazy and dishonest because of MBP so no one wanted to believe or listen to me until was proven innocent even though Nodarse is working overtime to still convince the system have this and take my daughter away from is terrified to leave my side and wants to cling on to me after her attack she suffered from her father. She is terrified he will return and hurt her again. have felt so helpless up until now because have reached out and done everything possible to get someone to listen and help me save her from him. Doctors should not abuse their license for financial gain the way Nodarse did me. Thank you, you have no idea how much you helping means to me! You are strong and know you will find your footing to help kids like le	page 1090
12/14/2023 11:40:29	Outbound	Hi lam so sorry for what you are going through. lam set to be released in two weeks. In order for me to help even a little is for me to know names and locations. What is the name of the Dr.? where are living? Where does this Dr practice from? I can't promise you that me knowing any of this will help but have a huge TikTok following and can make a video discussing how there is a unbalance in regards to MBP. There is a story from out of Florida of a mother who committed suicide to prove she did not have MBP and was not the cause of her daughters illness. It is stories like yours and hers that make me so mad at these doctors either they don't catch it at all or they place this serious diagnoses on just anyone for anything. There needs to be a balance. Do you have any paperwork from DFS visits that you would feel comfortable sharing with me as screen shots? If so hold on to it for now, when get out I'll need it. Not to show the public, but for my own research. Like said, am still finding my footing when it comes to advocacy there is very little resources for me to pull from so all have is like you said my voice and a huge following. 12/21/2023 21:10:33	Inbound	Update have filed police reports against him and have his own previous minor victims to testify what he has done to them along with text messages to him admitting it, his deposition of him admitting it, and he even admitted it in a court hearing right in front of the magistrate. The Department of Children and Families (DCF), am not sure what it is called in your state found enough evidence to make a safety plan where he cannot be alone with her. Holli has spoke out about her abuse, she is only 3 and you cannot get more honest than a 3 year old. She gets upset at the thought of returning to his house and begs me not to make her go back. He has several minor/at the time minor victims he has done this to and repeatedly gets by with it due to him having 2 excellent lawyers. have been fighting this battle mostly on my own. Dr. Nodarse is still attacking me and even trying to talk to the police conducting the investigation to convince them have MBP and that no one can believe a word out of mouth. They are using MBP to try and get everything against him thrown out and him to gain sole custody. They filed a motion against me today once again from Dr. Nodarse still persisting on with her MBP and also now claiming am "grooming and coaching" Holli to lie about what happened with Due to this Dr. false diagnosis that she was proven to be a lie and this Magistrate over the hearing, George Singletary II, has resulted in an indescribable amount of suffering for my baby and myself This magistrate made this premature temporary ruling without letting me defend myself, cross examine, or present my evidence/testimony based solely off of my ex husband and his "expert". I am fighting this battle alone and I have been fighting a hard good battle and will continue to do so to keep my baby safe but becoming more and more exhausted mentally and emotionally. am so thankful you have reached back out to me as was beginning to lose hope. They are actively working super hard to get me arrested for this and get my daughter taken away for good. have a ton of solid evidence but cannot get anyone to listen to me or help until now with you. have been stuck in this nightmare with him since was 18 and suffered a lot of abuse from him but when found out what he was doing to my daughter I said no more. now 22 almost 23 and trying to imagine and hold on to the hope of a peaceful normal adult life that have not ever got to experience yet. know you can relate in a different way to that. have been counting down the days to your release! am sure you have been too!! 12/25/2023 09:34:56	Inbound	It's Christmas! 168 hours, timely in 7 days, freedom's knock is only a week The years are over, faster days bringing, granted release The world is becoming yours with each hour as we speak Your life as a painting, God created in likeness of a masterpiece Freedom is now becoming yours, walk into it like a boss Your people walking with you, each and every bridge you cross Grounded we got you, all is gain and nothing is loss Life is waiting for you, with a smile and kiss on the cheek Dreams flying high as the clouds as your path alone is very unique You've caught the world by your beauty, personality and mystique The time to greet you, I'll play it off cool, but know I'm gonna freak With elation and pride and with wishes you find all that you seek Now it's 2 days, 23 hours, 56 minutes, 24 seconds and the butterfly takes flight Don't fly too high or too fast as you will also be the moth at night Out of your cocoon, following the trail of the moon so bright Journey of a lifetime, to some, to all, to many, to me ...bright as the sun, glowing like a star, you've become the Guiding Light! 12/25/2023 00:33:02	Inbound	Not sure about this... I'm not sure about whether sending you a letter is a good idea or not but figured there's only one way to find out. ... imagine you get dozens of letters of people you've never met or even heard of with your legal trouble and the events that led to them being covered in so many mediums. Do you? ... That's mainly why wasn't sure if writing was a good idea or not because imagine if there's too much mail to keep up with it could do more harm than good. If it were to cause you stress because there's too much to keep up with, or maybe make you feel somewhat violated that total strangers can contact you. hope that isn't the case. And on the other hand, hearing nothing could be even worse maybe. ... suppose that's why opened with saying I'm not sure if it's a good idea or not. ... was planning to go into a lengthy explanation about who am and ask a bunch of questions about who you are and what your dreams are for the future; but suppose should wait until know whether or not this letter is well received. ... So for now I'll end it and wait for your response (if you decide to send one). (Maybe. Who knows? Perhaps will end up sending something again before you respond.) ... also don't know exactly how this system works but think you're going to receive this letter on Christmas. So, if I'm correct;	page 675

I'm sure time goes by slow in there. Merry Christmas and Happy New Year. Not sure if yall get to do anything special at all for holidays in there. I'm just here resting in Texas. To me New Years is more of a couples holiday and im single so not a whole lot for me to do. might pop some fireworks or something but no big plans. Anyways, would love to hear from and about you. Hope your doing well Hi, how are you Gypsy? My name i but gob was watching TV and saw ur story and it made me sad. have had some family be in prison and just thought I'd write u a little letter of encouragement and hope you are doing ok. know from family members how tough it can be in there and cant believe a beautiful girl like yourself was taken advantage of so bad. Your story is one of the worst I've ever seen. can't believe the way you were treated, etc. Obviously what u ended up doing is wrong but also think you were over punished some. Anyways, I'm just a laid back guy from Texas, 39 years old and Hispanic. love sports, like to watch movies and love the outdoors. I'm sure you get tons of mail so you prob have plenty of people to write to so if u don't write back no big deal but if you want a nice pen pal, u can write me anytime or if you just need someone to vent to or whatever I'm easy going. Even through everything your personality seems very genuine and sweet so would love to write back and forth. Hope your doing ok. Let me know a little about you. Hope to hear from you soon	page 014
